Predict British to Start Offensive in Palestine

LONDON, (AP)—British government and Jewish agency sources expressed belief Friday that Lt.-Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine high commissioner, would ask the cabinet for authority to launch an offensive to smash Jewish terrorism in the Holy Land.

The prediction came as new violence erupted in Palestine. An official announcement in Jerusalem said an underground threat had been made to kidnap British soldiers, and that all ranks had been ordered, for their personal safety, to carry arms at all times, and to venture out of barracks only in pairs.

Three British soldiers were injured near a coastal village early Friday when their jeep was blown up, evidently by an electrically-detonated mine.

Searchers hunting for the men who recently flogged four British soldiers found a quantity of dynamite in a house in Jerusalem, on a route believed taken by underground forces who attempted a flamethrower attack in the area.

The attacks had the British government "on the spot" with two alternatives in prospect—either to find a final solution to the Palestine problem or to put the Holy Land under complete military rule.

Earlier stern British countermeasures were predicted in the wake of widespread attacks Thursday night by the Jewish underground on British military installations in which at least one British officer was slain and a score or more of persons wounded.

It was one of the biggest simultaneous operations ever launched in the Holy Land by the underground, which used mines, grenades, automatic weapons and home-made flamethrowers in at least 12 separate attacks in Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Tiberias, Hedera and Kiryat Haim, thus ending a month-long period of relative peace in Palestine.

Political observers predicted the attacks—which some sources said presumably were launched co-operatively by Irgun Zvai Leumi and the

Employe of City Is Killed In South Side Ditch Cave-in

Leo McLaughlin, 55, of 11050 95 st., a city laborer, was crushed to death shortly before noon Friday when a portion of a deep sewer ditch in which he was working caved in. The ditch, under construction by the city, was located on 76 ave. between 110 and 111 sts.

McLaughlin, despite a warning reported to have been given earlier by the foreman on the job, is said to have ventured into a part of the ditch, believed to be between 13 and 17 feet deep, which was not supported by heavy timbers. As he entered the dangerous section of the ditch, the cave-in occurred. It knocked him down, though the heavy earth did not cover his head.

Piled Seven Feet

The earth was piled to a depth of about seven feet on the remaing part of his body. Five men working in the ditch with him immediately began to work hurriedly to try to extricate the victim. He was conscious for seven or eight minutes, but the great weight on his body caused such extreme pain that he finally lost consciousness.

Freed in 30 Minutes

After working for about 30 minutes, the men freed McLaughlin. A stretcher was lowered into the ditch, with the help of two city firemen and employes of Smith's Ambulance, and his body was raised to the surface. The city ambulance rushed him to the University hospital, but he was believed to have died in the ditch.

While the five laborers, Adolf Fester, A. Komush, William Ledger, Wilfrid Benoit and John Berry, worked to free the man, the foreman, David Jones, held McLaughlin's head.

"I warned him not to go into the open part of the ditch where there was no timber support," Jones said. "That is the first warning that all the men get. He was an experienced man and I can't quite understand why he went into the open part of the ditch. He had been working for me for six years."

Jones said the portion of the ditch which caved in seemed to have a lot of ash mixed with the clay.

McLaughlin was a married man with a family.

Witness at Inquiry In Lynching Beaten

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—A 19-year-old Negro, his face bruised and battered, said Thursday night he was beaten by two white men who attempted to force him from his testimony before a federal grand jury investigating the lynching of four Negroes there last summer.

The youth, who gave his name as Lamar Howard, of Monroe, was brought here for medical treatment and to relate the incident to the F.B.I.

Howard said two men approached him at the iceplant where he worked Wednesday, took him to the rear at the point of a pistol and beat him about the face and head for "10 or 15 minutes" with their fists and the gun.

Eisenhower Asserts He's Not Candidate

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower Friday ruled himself out as a presidential candidate and declared that mention of his name in that capacity "is not good for the great organization with which I am associated."

Eisenhower, the army's chief of staff, made it plain that he was thinking as a soldier of the nation's future security to prevent the United States from falling victim to some possible future "super-blitz."

Two Japs Given 12-Year Terms

TOKYO, (CP) — Two Japanese convicted of mistreating Canadian and other prisoners of war have been sentenced to prison for 12 years by the Allied war crimes commission.

Both prosecutions were conducted by the Canadian war crimes liaison detachment headed by Lt.-Col. J. O. F. H. Orr of Vancouver.

Dr. Hiroshi Fujii was shown to have been antagonistic to prisoners. At one time he ordered all but four men on sick parade in Niigata camp to work. One was Herbert Wallace of Kingsbury, Que., at whom Fujii grew angry for some reason. In his anger, he said all the prisoners would have to work until they died. Wallace died shortly after going on hard labor the next day.

Tomoki Nakamura was accused of forcing prisoners to work and taking Red Cross parcels for his own use. An affidavit by Maj. J. A. G. Reid, a Canadian medical officer, said the accused had jeopardized the lives of 200 weak and feeble prisoners by putting them on a work party in an iron mine.

U. S. Prods Soviet To Settle Loan

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States has prodded Russia for a third time in an effort to get the Soviets to settle their $11,000,000,000 lend-lease account, government officials said Thursday night.

Russia is the only major Allied power which has failed to wind up its lend-lease obligations. Great Britain and France settled during conferences which led to sizeable American loans.

FIVE MEN ARRESTED

WINDSOR, (CP)—Five men were arrested early Friday by two constables whose routine check of stores took them to Eric Macarthur's grocery as the five prepared to remove 107 pounds of butter and a large quantity of tobacco from the building.

Officer's Pose as Indian Potentate Wins Hotel Table for New Year's

By Frank Swanson

LONDON.—All London was laughing Friday at the ingenuity of a 27-year-old army officer who found himself unable to get a New Year's Eve reservation at a leading west end hotel.

Having tried unsuccessfully for a week to get a table in the hotel's exclusive main dining room for himself and mother, he finally hit on the scheme of masquerading as the "Maharajah of Peshawar."

Deeply tanned because of long service in India, he appeared at the hotel dressed in a turban made of a silk bedspread, a grey and gold brocaded jacket and dress shirt and trousers. His mother came along too, dressed in a mauve silk sari embroidered in gold over a silver lame jacket.

The officer and his mother were received with bows and super service and saw in the new year at the best table in the fashionable dining room.

Friday the story appeared in London newspapers and drew the winter's biggest chuckle—because there is no "Maharajah of Peshawar."

Chortling Londoners were recalling with relish other famous hoaxes of the past especially that of the famous practical jokester, H. de Vere Cole, who died in 1936, and who, during his undergraduate days at Cambridge, impersonated the "Sultan of Zanzibar" at his university and received high academic honors from the heads of the colleges. He also visited the Royal Navy, which was drawn up in review order for his inspection, and actually boarded H.M.S. Dreadnaught "as an Abyssinian prince" before he was discovered.

5 Londoners Die In 'Fog' Collision

LONDON, (Reuters) — Five persons were killed and 43 injured—35 seriously—when the London-to-Norwich express mail train crashed into a stationary local train in a fog at Gidea park in the outskirts of London Thursday night.

Several coaches were telescoped, wreckage was hurled in all directions and one coach went through the roof of the station.

Rescue operations were greatly hampered by the thick fog and some of the injured were trapped in the wreckage for 3½ hours.

King to Obtain Citizen Papers

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—Biggest news in connection with Friday's citizenship ceremony in Ottawa is that Canada's No. 1 official citizen—Right. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada—will take out Canadian citizenship papers.

In doing so, Mr. King will lead the way for all Canadians—naturalized or Canadian-born—to take the practical step of taking out papers and thus declaring themselves as Canadian citizens. They become British subjects then by virtue of their Canadian citizenship.

As the clock struck midnight Dec. 31, some millions of residents of Canada who heretofore had been officially described as of Irish, Scottish, English, Scandinavian or Polish origin, etc., became Canadians in the fullest sense of the term.

For the first time millions of men and women who were Canadian in everything but name were placed on the same basis as Canada's Indians—the only residents of this country who up until the present have been able to put down their citizenship as "Canadian".

Perhaps the honor of being able to call oneself a Canadian was felt most keenly by Canada's returned men. They recalled how, when overseas, they ran into all sorts of difficulties with security officers, hotel clerks and others. In British hotels one had to give one's nationality when registering. Hotel clerks refused to accept the designation "Canadian", always put down "British subject."

This angered and infuriated many Canadians.

OTTAWA, (CP) — The mother of a Victoria Cross winner, a music conductor, and the dominion's first Ukrainian settler, an internationally-known photographer will be among those to receive citizenship papers at a national citizenship ceremony Friday night.

A certificate of proof of citizenship will be given to Mrs. Stanley Mynarski of Winnipeg, Polish-born mother of PO. Andrew Charles Mynarski, second to win the Victoria Cross in the history of the R.C.A.F. PO. Mynarski lost his life June 12, 1944, while attempting to save a comrade. Mrs. Mynarski has been a resident of Canada since 1911.

Citizenship certificates also will be given to Giuseppe Agostini, Italian-born music conductor who has been attached to the C.B.C. since 1932; Wasyl Elyniak of Chipman, Alta., Canada's first Ukrainian settler; Yousuf Karsh of Ottawa, internationally known Armenian-born photographer, and others.

Communists Take City in Shantung

NANKING, (AP) — Dispatches to pro-government newspapers said Friday Communist troops have captured the western Shantung province railway city of Liaocheng.

(The government's Central News agency reported only Thursday that the Communists had abandoned the siege of Liaocheng.)

PEIPING, (AP) — Communist guerillas have been driven from the suburbs of Peiping and fresh government reinforcements have arrived at Communist-besieged Paoting, 90 miles southwest, Gen. Chi-chen, deputy commander of the 11th War Zone, announced.

Chen said the guerilla attacks along the Peiping-Hankow railway had generally failed or slackened and that conditions were easier along the Peiping-Tientsin line.

Gandhi Horrified at Riot Scenes in Bengal

Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of India's Hindus, is conducting a village-to-village walking tour through eastern Bengal province, carrying the doctrine of non-violence into the Moslem-dominated area where communal disturbances have flared. He is accompanied by Dr. Sushila Nayar, right, and Mrs. Aca Gandhi. They have been shocked by what they have seen. There were families wiped out, homes and business places burned and villages raided. In this photo the party is coming on one such devastated village, and horror shows on every face.

Move to Bar Bilbo Throws U. S. Senate Into Uproar

WASHINGTON, (AP)— The 80th congress—the first controlled by Republicans in 15 years—convened Friday with the senate in an uproar over seating Senator Theodore Bilbo (Dem., Miss.) and the house of representatives ready for business.

Last-minute efforts to compromise the Bilbo controversy failed when 14 Democratic senators organized for "extended debate" against a Republican-led move to bar the Mississippian from the chamber.

The White House announced President Truman would deliver his "state of the union" message at a joint session in the house chamber Monday if both houses are organized then.

Propose Tax Cuts

The No. 1 measure offered in the house was the Republican plan to cut individual income taxes. Instead of the proposed 20-percent reduction "across the board," it provides for a 20-percent tax cut on the first $300,000 of income and a 10.5 percent reduction on income above that figure.

Secretary Leslie L. Biffle banged the gavel in the senate, ruling that senators should be sworn in singly, in alphabetical order.

Senator Raymond Baldwin (Rep., Conn.) thereupon was given the oath. Bilbo's came next.

Senator Glen Taylor (Dem., Idaho) immediately offered a resolution which would prevent the Mississippian's seating. The resolution charged that Bilbo's activities were "tainted with fraud and corruption." It would refer the Bilbo case to the new rules committee. Later Bilbo returned to his seat without being sworn in.

Might Prevent Session

Officials familiar with senate rules said a southern filibuster might prevent the body from adopting a resolution for the joint house-senate session Monday.

Such a result would halt the legislative machinery on the senate side, since the chamber traditionally does not even receive bills until it has heard from the president.

Once the Bilbo tie-up is out of the way, the senate can join with the house of representatives in tackling such major issues of the new session as revision of the labor laws, reduction of taxes and pruning of government expenditures to balance the budget.

MOSCOW, (AP) — The newspaper Ukraine Pravda Thursday called the United States senate investigation of Senator Bilbo a farce and intimated that the United States had no business objecting to elections in Bulgaria and Romania when it allowed such elections as Bilbo's at home. The newspaper said Bilbo's speeches were "an unbelievable mixture of folly, clowning and filthy cursing."

Dies After Sitting 30 Years by Stove

MANCHESTER, Eng., (CP) — The death of a man who spent 30 of his 40 years in the corner of his mother's kitchen was reported Friday by the institution where he was taken when his mother died nine weeks ago.

Neighbors said Henry Lamont Cooper sat by the stove from the time he was 10 years old and his mother took him out of school because of a weak chest. There were no visitors and soon his existence was almost forgotten.

His mother died last October and it was decided to take Henry to an institution. When he saw the automobile which came to take him away he cried in terror.

Welfare officers said that despite mental deterioration he was physically fit. However, he fell ill worrying about his mother. A next door neighbor said: "I am convinced he died of a broken heart."

Say More Shirts Available Soon

By John Bird

OTTAWA.—There is good prospect that shirts will be available on Canadian counters in reasonable quantities within a month or so. This was learned from officials of the prices board Friday in connection with the removal of import restrictions on cotton garments.

But the reappearance of the shirt will be due to Canadian production, which is now good, and not to importations, though these may help slightly in the case of luxury-priced shirts.

Friday's order removing import controls on cotton garments, house furnishings and other manufactured cotton goods was based largely upon the removal of the American allocation plan for cotton goods. Canada was in effect "rationed" on her cotton goods imports during the war and chose to take the amount apportioned in the form of yarns and fabrics for processing in Canada.

But since Oct. 15, and particularly during the past month, import permits have been granted freely to concerns desiring to bring in cotton goods like shirts — which, however, still come under the board's pricing order.

Officials say imports of shirts won't amount to much, but add that Canadian-made shirts will be back in fair supply — though by no means a drug on the market — in a matter of weeks.

11 Germans on Trial For "Terror" Bombs

STUTTGART, Germany, (AP)—Nine grinning German youths and a confused man of 57 went on trial Friday on charges of organizing a secret Nazi resistance movement in United States-occupied Germany and conducting terror bombings in the Stuttgart area.

Also before the American military government court was one 17-year-old German charged only with "knowledge of the possession of weapons by others."

All were seized by army investigators after the October bombing of three German de-Nazification courts and a United States military police jail.

Greek Guerillas Moving Southward

ATHENS, (AP)— A general southward movement of leftist guerillas into central Greece is under way, dispatches from Salonika said Thursday night. With the coming of the United Nations investigating commission it had been predicted that leftist groups would shift their activities from Macedonia and Thrace to central Greece in order to divert attention from the country's trouble-ridden northern borders.

Britain Will Pay More As Production Incentive

OTTAWA, (CP)—As an incentive to increased production of Canadian bacon, the British ministry of food has agreed to advance the contract price for Grade "A" Wiltshire sides at the Canadian seaboard from $25 to $29 for 100 pounds.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, in announcing the increase Thursday, said the advance will mean an adjustment in the domestic price, but he gave no indication just how much more Canadians will have to pay for their bacon.

The new export price agreement will go into effect Sept. 1, 1947, and will remain until Dec. 31, 1948.

The $4 increase will mean a return of roughly $5 for each hog over the floor prices based on the present agreement recently signed with Britain. It will mean an increase of about $3.33 per hundredweight for dressed hogs in Alberta.

The minister declared the export price boost would have no marked effect on the domestic supply, but was worked out as an incentive to increased hog production.

Though the effective date was set at Sept. 1, the minister declared part of the increase would go into effect "in the near future." As soon as details connected with the domestic prices of pork have been worked out, date for the implementation of the increases will be announced, he said.

Mr. Gardiner said that farmers "may now proceed with their plans for increased hog production with the assurance that, when the hogs are ready for market, increased prices will be available."

The export price rise was said to have been brought about because of the shortage of pork in Britain, which recently resulted in a cut in the bacon ration from three to two ounces a week. Fearful of not

Asking Statements On Bank's Condition

WASHINGTON, (AP) The comptroller of the currency Friday issued a call for a statement on the condition of all United States national banks at the close of business Dec. 31.

The Federal Reserve board also called for condition reports as of Dec. 31 from all state banks which are members of the federal reserve system. The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation asked for similar reports from state banks not in the federal reserve system but insured by the F.D.I.C.

No Early Raise In Butter Prices

OTTAWA, (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner Thursday assured Canadian consumers of a steady supply of butter with no increase in prices until April 30 at least.

In an interview with newspapermen, the minister announced the government may import butter in order to maintain the individual basic ration of six ounces weekly.

By April 30, the minister said, the government will review ceiling prices in relation to subsidies on milk going into butter and cheese.

Echo Of Conference

Mr. Gardiner's announcement was said to be an echo of last month's agricultural conference when demands for higher prices were insistent. There were even broad hints that unless the price went up, farmers might get out of business altogether.

Mr. Gardiner countered with the suggestion that if Canadian farmers won't produce butter, Canada might have to import the commodity. This brought many loud protests.

The minister made it clear that there will be no immediate increase in butter prices, and it was believed that his announcement would prevent owners of big butter stocks from hoarding the product in anticipation of higher prices.

56,400,000 Lbs. In Stock

As of Dec. 1, stocks of creamery butter in storage or in transit totalled 56,400,000 pounds, while stocks of cheese amounted to 26,000,000 pounds.

"The quantities of these products in storage will continue to decrease from month to month, reaching a minimum at the end of April," he said.

The minister said an increase in the price of butter now would not benefit the farmers, but instead would benefit the owners of large quantities in storage, and would annoy the buying public.

Commenting on the announcement, D. H. McCallum, provincial dairy commissioner, said that stocks of creamery butter at Dec. 1 in Canada were 4,600,000 pounds greater than those at the same time last year.

"Any increase in price at this time would not benefit the producers of that butter held in storage, but would cost the consumer more," Mr. McCallum said. "It is noted that subsidies and ceiling prices for the next fiscal year will be reviewed befor April. It is to be hoped subsidies or prices will be such as to encourage a greater production of creamery butter in 1947."

Alaskan Supplies May Halt Again

SEATTLE, (AP) — No more cargo for Seward, Alaska, will be accepted for shipment from Seattle until an inter-union dispute about unloading there is settled, Alaska Steamship company officials said Thursday.

Sailing of the freighter Jumper Hitch, set for the middle of next week, will be held up if the Seward tieup is still on, H.N. Peterson, freight traffic manager, said. The dispute is between C.I.O.-longshoremen and A.F.L.-sailors' unions over winch-driving work. Three ships were being unloaded in Seward Thursday under a temporary truce.

FOURTH TRAFFIC DEATH

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C., (AP)—The fourth traffic fatality in Greater Vancouver over the Christmas and New Year's holiday was reported Thursday. Ray Sherman, 17, injured Wednesday when the bobsled he was riding hit the side of a car, died Wednesday.

N.Y. Police Ordered 'Shoot to Kill' In Hunt for Nine Escaped Felons

NEW YORK, (AP)— The city's 17,000 police Friday were ordered to be ready to "shoot to kill" in the manhunt for nine felons, one a confessed killer, who staged a daylight escape from ancient Raymond Street jail in Brooklyn.

By the number of men delivered, the break was the largest in the city's history. But it was astonishingly quiet and involved no violence.

"Everything points to accomplices on the outside," declared Albert O. Williams, newly-appointed commissioner of correction.

Warden Thomas McDonnell attributed the escape to an inadequate number of guards and to the prison's deterioration.

"The jail," he said, "is over 100 years old. Its bars are rotten, its windows are rotten."

Williams gave this version of the break:

The nine prisoners, unescorted, were returning from a prison medical examination Thursday between 1:15 and 1:45 p.m. They departed from the customary route back to their cells and passed an open door leading into a cell facing a park.

One of the men climbed up to the cell window, and using a hacksaw, cut through a bar and squeezed through an opening.

A plank was just outside the open cell window and the following prisoners apparently scrambled up it to the top of the 15-foot prison wall, from which they dropped into the snow-covered park.

The men disappeared without being observed, although they passed within 20 feet of a police booth overlooking the prison yard.

Police believe the break was "masterminded" by Anthony Acillo, 30, who recently pleaded guilty to murder, and Alfred Minutolo, 34, former Alcatraz prisoner.

Snipers in Indo-China Area Fire on French Investigator

HANOI, Indo-China, (AP) — French Colonial Minister Marius Moutet was fired on by snipers shortly after he arrived in Hanoi Thursday for an on-the-spot investigation of conditions.

French authorities Friday said the cabinet minister and his official party were visiting a hospital when shots were fired, apparently from an Annamite house near the hospital. None of the French was hit, they reported.

Moutet, sent to Indo-China by the French government to inquire into three-week-old fighting between French and Viet Namese republican forces, flew to Hanoi, Indo-Chinese capital and storm centre of the trouble in northern Tonkin, from Saigon in the south.

A French communique said the French garrison at Namdinh still was repulsing violent, artillery-supported Viet Nam attacks. Elsewhere in northern Indo-China, only patrol activity was reported.

BATAVIA, Java, (AP) — The Dutch army Friday reported serious clashes with Indonesians had occurred at Medan, Sumatra, and that the military situation elsewhere in Sumatra was growing worse in spite of an appeal broadcast by President Soekarno of the Indonesian republic for peaceful solution of the deteriorating situation.

Hirohito Reduced To 1,400 Servants

TOKYO, (AP)— Emperor Hirohito's imperial household personnel has been cut from a wartime 8,900 to 1,400 and the Japanese press reported Friday this figure is the "barest essential necessary to run the imperial family."

Army Talks Use Wainwright Park

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA.—Negotiations are under way between national defence headquarters in Ottawa and the government of Alberta for the use of Wainwright national park as an army training area, it is learned here.

There has been no decision made yet, and the matter is still under discussion. Both national defence headquarters and western command headquarters are strongly in favor of the project.

If the project goes through, it will not mean the establishment of large-scale permanent installations in the park. The idea would be to move large army formations into the park for certain definite periods of special training. The size of such a force could vary from a single regiment to an entire brigade group, but no formation would remain in the park permanently. All such bodies would carry out their manoeuvres there, and then move out to return to their permanent bases.

If the plan is approved, Wainwright would be the largest training area at least in western Canada.

Wainwright national park ceased to exist as a home for buffalo in 1939. In the fall of that year about 3,000 of the animals were destroyed.

In 1940 the department of national defence took over the former 197 square miles of buffalo sanctuary as an artillery practice range.

By 1941 Wainwright farmers were requesting the dominion government to throw the former parkland open as a community pasture.

On Friday Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, G.O.C. Western army command, had nothing to say on negotiations being conducted for the use of the former park as a training ground.

He stated, however, that the reserve army 18th Infantry Brigade winter exercise "Husky" would be held in the parkland area at Wainwright in February.

Speaking of the suitability of the Wainwright area as a reserve army training ground, he said, "Ground that before the war was adaptable to army training has been outmoded by extended manoeuvrability. The longer range of training weapons and mobility of forces demand larger territories in which to train.

"The ideal military training area is one which has various types of terrain, various weather conditions, elbow room for manoeuvres of combat formations, and it must be accessible because of the time factor in reserve army training.

"After reconnaissance, the Wainwright area would appear to meet all these conditions and at the same time would allow military training to be carried on without interfering with land being used for economic purposes."

Los Angeles Fire Kills One, Hurts 4

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — An unidentified man was burned to death and four others were injured when fire swept through a small downtown hotel early Friday.

Police said one occupant of the hotel was being held for questioning because an empty gasoline can was found on the stairs.

Assistant Fire Chief F. E. Winkler said many of the hotel's residents were hanging from windows and getting ready to jump when firemen arrived. About 25 were taken down on ladders.

$500,000 Fire Hits Plant in Calgary

CALGARY, (CP) — A two-alarm fire razed the Western Gypsum plant here early Friday causing damage estimated at more than $500,000.

D. J. McLaughlin, superintendent of the mill, said damage was only partly covered by insurance.

Starting in a 600-pound roll of paper, the fire was discovered by men cleaning machinery in the plant. They attempted to put it out with fire extinguishers.

Several other rolls quickly caught fire and the flames shot ceilingward.

The fire was believed to have been started by a short circuit in a motor beside the rolls of paper.

An hour after the blaze was discovered all that remained of the main structure was a glowing framework.

The plant was built in May, 1945. New equipment had been installed since that time. About 45 men are employed at the plant.

It is estimated operations will not be resumed for at least 18 months. This will put a crimp in Calgary's already critical building situation which has relied greatly on Western Gypsum Products for plaster board.

TOKYO FEELS TREMORS

TOKYO, (AP)—Two earth shocks Friday rocked Tokyo, still jittery from southwestern Japan's recent earthquake and tidal wave, but meteorologist said they were too light to cause damage.

Canada Will Get Higher Bacon Price

being able to maintain even the meagre two-ounce ration, the British food ministry appoached the Canadian government to obtain even larger quantities of bacon in 1947 and 1948 and offered to increase the price, the minister said.

The 1947-48 agreement calls for the shipment of 350,000,000 pounds in 1947 and 400,000,000 in 1948. Shipments in 1946 totalled about 285,000,000 pounds. Pre-war Britain imported about 800,000,000 pounds annually.

Directly related with hog production is the demand by farmers' organizations for encouragement in barley production. It was learned that the government now has such a plan, but its details are unknown. It was suggested it might be simply a boost in the price of barley or a $5-per-acre subsidy.

Though many farm organizations greeted the announcement jubilantly, Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, said he was convinced the boost in price would not increase hog production.

He thought the reason farmers were going out of the hog business was because of the income tax they have to pay. He added the only solution he could see was for the dominion government to make tax exempt all revenue from hogs.

In Calgary, farm authorities said the price increase "definitely will mean greater hog production in Alberta," but they warned greater barley production was necessary to ensure increased hog production.

George Church, vice-president, and J. R. McFall, secretary, of the Alberta Federation of Agiculture, said the increase was "in the right direction" and "long overdue."

Termed "Good News"

Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture termed the Ottawa announcement of the increase of $4 per hundredweight for Wiltshire sides as "good news" for Alberta farmers.

"Including the dominion government bonus of $2 per hog, a 210-pound Grade "A" pig will be worth at least $35," the minister said. "Part of the increase apparently is to come in the near future, with full increase becoming effective Sept. 1. This advance information is timely. Farmers can now arrange their hog expansion program to get the full benefit from price increase next fall, as sows will produce pigs going to market in November and December.

"The price guarantee to Dec. 31, 1948, will provide a reasonable number of litters' turnover to compensate those who are starting in hogs or who require additional buildings and equipment. Although a stabilized price for a longer period would assure more permanently this important industry, it is hoped farmers will respond to this price increase not only in volume but in quality," Mr. MacMillan said.

Britain to Pay

O. S. Longman, deputy minister, said he hoped Alberta farmers would "fully appreciate" that the bacon price increase is being provided by the people of Britain.

"I trust that the farmers of Alberta will aim to market 2,000,000 hogs annually, and that they will begin to re-establish themselves in the British market. Obviously, the degree to which Britain's needs will be met will be determined largely by the response received from Alberta farmers. I sincerely hope that every farmer who can and every farm organization in Alberta will respond immediately to this appeal. There has always been a profit in hog production. The present increase makes it most attractive.

"It must not be overlooked, however, that along with increased hog production consideration must be given to the production of feed supplies. An increase in barley acreage, particularly, is needed, not only to meet the feed requirements of Alberta, but to provide for the needs of other provinces of Canada, which are dependent upon it to meet their requirements," said Mr. Longman.

Dog Packs Ravage Livestock in U. K.

LONDON, (Reuters)— Bands of "killer" dogs, roaming the countryside of England and Wales, are threatening Britain's home-reared meat supplies by destroying large numbers of cattle and sheep.

The Sussex Downs, the Cornish and Yorkshire Moors and the fells of Cumberland and Westmoreland are the areas in which dogs are preying on livestock on a scale recalling 1810, when Britain's worst killer dog—a cross between a mastiff and a greyhound—terrorized Ennerdale valley in Cumberland.

One of the worst cases of sheep killing occurred recently on a Sussex farm, where two dogs were shot in the midst of the blood-covered and maimed bodies of eight sheep.

"Killer" birds, also have menaced Britain's livestock. They are the great skua birds, which breed in the Shetland islands, and have attacked Scottish sheep tearing out their tongues and eyes.

Predict British Offensive To Smash Jewish Terrorism

so-called Stern gang—would draw strong reaction from British authorities in the form of "comb-outs," curfews and other measures in an effort to find the persons responsible.

Violence Condemned

(The attacks followed by only a few days strong World Zionist Congress condemnation of the use of violence in Palestine and occurred only a few hours after David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish aency executive, declared in London that he felt sure a Jewish state would be created in the Holy Land.

(A British government source said Palestine was facing martial law or a small-scale war, adding that one more incident there "might blow the lid off." Conferences on the future of the strife-torn Holy Land, up to now boycotted by the Jews and Palestine Arabs, are scheduled to be resumed in London Jan. 21.)

Observers also said it was possible the underground would launch new blows within the next few days.

Italians Are Caring For Ortona Graves

OTTAWA, (CP)—Prime Minister King Friday made public letters received from officials of Ortona, advising him of the care being taken of the graves of Canadian troops who died in the liberation of that little Italian town.

One letter from Signor D'Ambrobio Giovanni, perfect of Ortona, told of a procession organized by the local women's club to the Moro river military cemetery, a short distance from the town, where flowers were laid on the graves.

He wrote:

"On this solemn occasion our women, sharing the grief of the mothers, sisters and wives of the Canadian soldiers, prayed at the graves for peace and for the souls of the heroes."

Mr. King replied that the bereaved families in Canada would be "deeply touched by the knowledge that the sacrifice of their dear ones is so much appreciated by those who have themselves suffered greatly."

A second letter from Prof. Giuseppine Feliziani, provincial secretary of the League of Italian Women of Chieti, advised that the League of Italian Women of Ortona-by-the-sea had "adopted" the graves of Canadian soldiers buried in the military cemetery in the town.

Prof. Feliziani said the women sought to express their sympathy for the Canadian mothers "by assuring them that their boys resting here near ruined Ortona, on the shore of the Adriatic, will never be without flowers grown from the soil their blood has watered. He added: "Every year, on the same date, our women will repeat this pious pilgrimage."

Replying on behalf of the families of men buried there, Mr. King wrote asking that Prof. Feliziani "kindly convey to the women who have undertaken to care for their graves an expression of heartfelt gratitude."

"In this expression of gratitude, the people of Canada as a whole will wish to join," he added.

Protests General Rates Increases

OTTAWA, (CP) — Horizontal freight rate increases sought by Canadian railways would be "unfair," the board of transport commissioners was told Friday by Col. J. L. Ralston.

Representing the Maritime Transportation commission, Col. Ralston declared horizontal increases "have been recognized as absolutely unfair not only with respect to commodities but also territorially."

The former federal cabinet minister addressed the board in an application on behalf of several provinces for further particulars from the railways in connection with their application for general 30 per cent increases in freight rates. Hearings into the railways' request are scheduled to start Feb. 11.

In setting rates, Col. Ralston said a distinction should be made between territories. He said the east now has the Maritime Freight Rates act; the west has Crowsnest rates, and Ontario and Quebec have competitive rates.

"You've got a country where horizontal rates just do not apply," he said. "The economic factor in each area must be taken into account."

On long freight hauls, Col. Ralston said, some commodities would be "simply unable to reach the market."

Col. Ralston was supported in his request for more particulars by Lionel A. Forsyth, Montreal, representing the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Power Break Hits Hamilton Plants

HAMILTON, (CP)—With both transmission lines from Decew Falls out of order, practically the entire 60-cycle power system in the Hamilton district failed Friday.

Nearly all Hamilton's main industries were affected including Steel Company of Canada, by-product coke ovens, Firestone, and Westinghouse.

Uptown office buildings were without power. Staffs and clients at the 14-storey Piggott building climbed stairs instead of riding elevators.

The power failure extended to several big apartment buildings. Occupants were unable to cook breakfast on electric stoves and blower furnaces threatened to go out.

To make things worse, the city's big snowblower broke down and interfered with clearing of uptown streets.

Power company officials blamed the power failure on an ice storm. Telegraph companies reported breaks in their lines caused by falling poles.

G. B. S. Claims He Is 'Extinct'

LONDON, (AP)—George Bernard Shaw is "extinct," he said Friday.

The 90-year-old playwright and sage, asked to support a movement for amnesty for Irish political prisoners, replied:

"It is a waste of time and energy sending the enclosure to an old man of 90 who has retired from political life and whose name cannot add any weight to your own.

"Strike me off your active list as extinct."

3,000 Canadians In Dutch Cemetery

NIJMEGEN, Holland, (CP)—Slowly taking shape on a ridge overlooking the costly Nijmegen battleground, is a cemetery for more than 3,000 Canadian war dead which will be rivalled by few others in location and development.

Like the cemeteries at Agira, Sicily and Ortona, Italy, and the First Great War memorial at Vimy, it commands ground over which the Canadians fought and its lofty simple cross is visible from the farthest corners of the battlefield.

It's roster of dead now is complete. The Canadian graves construction unit has left and landscaping designs have been turned over to the Imperial war graves commission. Work has been entrusted to a handful of Dutch gardeners who may be finished by next autumn.

The striking quality of the Nijmegen cemetery is its silhouette effect.

Actual site of the cemetery was formed by shaving the top of the ridge down to the smoothness of a bowling green. As the muddy, narrow, hilly road, brings the walking visitor into view, the great cross and the gardeners working on the distant level—still 500 yards away—seem nearer, seen so completely above the skyline.

Most of the graves have been adopted by citizens of neighboring Nijmegen, Bergen-Dal and Groosbeek and almost every one has unbound sprays of flowers upon its still unsodded turf.

Some of the adopting families, however, have fallen back on the continental custom of decorating graves with reclining, black iron drums, glass-topped and containing huge, hideous waxed laurel wreaths. Even the Dutch gardeners disapprove and say they hope instructions will come to remove them.

It is proposed to nestle every grave cross in rose shrubs and to outline the rows formed by the feet of the graves by lines of bramble roses. Though every grave now is marked by a low, well-shaped mound after the continental practice, they eventually will be flush with the ground, Canadian fashion.

Polar Seaplane Is Long Overdue

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A seaplane with eight persons aboard is overdue on an exploratory flight from the navy's Antarctic expedition, the navy reported Friday.

The last report from the plane was received on Dec. 30 when it was about 250 miles south of the seaplane tender Pine Island.

Previous reconnaissance flights had reported open water in that area and the navy expressed hope the plane had made a safe landing. Search and rescue operations have been hampered by bad weather.

ABOARD THE U.S.S. MT. OLYMPUS, (AP) — Cosmo, a hitchhiking little Penguin, has adopted the submarine Sennet. The sub's crew, delighted with his antics, has made him mascot.

Cosmo zoomed aboard the sub Tuesday as the craft proceeded through ice floes with other ships in the Antarctic expedition. Since then he has been enjoying a free ride at United States navy expense.

The expedition was halted in the Ross sea Friday by a tightening circle of ice. Admiral Cruzen, using a helicopter and an icebreaker, hunted an open lane.

Greek Orthodox Patriarch Is Ill

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—A special commission of mental experts, appointed by the synod of the Greek Orthodox church, has officially reported Maximos V, the 51-year-old patriarch, to be suffering from a nervous disorder.

Competent sources said the cloistered life a patriarch must lead had caused Maximo's illness less than a year after he became the spiritual leader of the church.

The commission said that it believed Maximos' "intelligence is normal" and that he probably would be cured. He now is undergoing special treatment and will be examined again, perhaps within two weeks, informed sources said.

Maximos is one of the youngest patriarchs in the history of the centuries-old orthodox religion.

The proposal dealt with financing the international Red Cross. Societies in various countries will be taxed in proportion to funds they received the preceding year.

'Go Slow' Drive, Absenteeism Hit British Railway Services

By Basil Dean

LONDON, —In the midst of the great nation-wide debate on the Labor government's proposal to nationalize all rail and road transportation services, minor labor troubles and absenteeism are hampering three of Britain's big four railway companies.

For nearly a month, commuters living in northeast London who depend on London and Northeastern Railway to get to their offices daily, have undergone discomforts and delays as a result of a wage dispute in the company's Stratford locomotive depot.

Workers in this depot, where locomotives are cleaned and repaired, have been on a "go slow" campaign for weeks—working strictly to union rules, refusing to do any overtime or Sunday work. The campaign is an effort to force the company to bring their wages into line with those paid at a neighboring engine-building plant, where employes are on piece rates.

Service Cancelled

As a result, the company cannot keep enough locomotives in service to maintain its schedules. Nearly 40 percent of its engines are out of service, train cancellations have been frequent, and have caused much dislocation to timetables.

Employers are considering the workers' claims, but say several important principles are involved and that hasty decision is therefore impossible. It seems the men want their demands okayed forthwith, and will maintain the "go slow" attitude until settlement is reached.

Meanwhile, 31 trains were cancelled Thursday and the company says it has had "a perfect nightmare of improvisation" to keep trains running at all.

Other Main Lines Hit

On two other main lines - the Great Western which serves the west of England and south Wales, and London Midland Scottish, which runs to North Wales, northwest England and Scotland - absenteeism among engineers and firemen has also forced many train cancellations.

Great Western had to cancel several commuter services during the Christmas rush. Even with holiday travel over and traffic below normal, it had to suspend eight local services Thursday night. There appears to be no dispute behind the absence of train crews, and the men are simply taking a rest.

Illness among crews is given as the reason for cancellation by London Midland and Scottish Thursday of six trains in the London area, while in the coal-famine area of northwest England many services have been suspended by fuel shortage.

Toil to Crack Safe, It's Empty, Unlocked

NEWARK, N. J., (CP) — Thieves learned two things from the safes in the offices of Grammer-Dempsey Hudson metal working company.

Moral No. 1 — It isn't the size of the safe that counts. From a small safe, they got $800. From a 2,000-pound safe, they got nothing. It contained only dust.

Moral No. 2 — Try the easy way first. Police estimate the burglars spent four hours breaking into the empty safe — which wasn't locked.

Indies Consider Federation Plan

KINGSTON, Jamaica, (CP)—The question of federation of British colonies of the West Indies, a subject of federation of British colonies of the West Indies, a subject of intermittent debate for more than a decade, is once more a topic of political discussion in the islands and in British Guiana.

But most of the cries for federation come from the smaller island groups—the Windwards and the Leewards—and thus far the populace of the larger colonies has shown only lukewarm interest.

The Windward and the Leeward groups are outright for federation and are holding conferences with this end in view.

Want Stronger Voice

Protagonists there for federation argue that as single units the West Indies have no voice in the steering of their own affairs, that inter-island trade is negligible because the colonies produce practically the same commodities and that they must accept what is handed out to them in the way of government.

In Trinidad, Hon. Albert Gomes, militant member of the legislative council and former deputy mayor of Port of Spain, is an out-and-out federationalist. He has taken the issue into the Trinidad parliament and he preaches it at every opportunity. He sees federation as the foundation stone of a self-governing West Indian commonwealth within the British Empire.

Gomes' beliefs are shared by a large number of his compatriots but the population in general has manifested but slight interest in federation. As in the other colonies, the question has never formed a political issue.

Guiana Not Interested

Britain's South American colony, British Guiana, probably has the least interest in federation with the West Indies.

Guinese say they have nothing in common with the West Indies except the British flag and that their future is continental, that is, linked with South America.

In Jamaica, largest island of the British West Indies, the idea of federation has been approved "in principle" by the house of representatives, but no further action has been taken.

Latest move has been made by N. Cleveland Lewis, a Labor member of the house and a strong advocate of federation. Lewis proposes the calling of a conference of West Indian delegates early this year to frame proposals for a federation and to submit them to the colonial office.

Generally speaking, however, feeling here toward federation is tepid. The explanation lies in the fact that Jamaica is 1,000 miles from Trinidad and British Guiana and that the people know very little about the sister colonies.

'Jack the Snipper' Is Active Again

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Washington's "Jack the Snipper" sheared his eighth victim Thursday night and apologized for jostling her.

Mrs. Margaret Dyer, the girl's mother, said her daughter didn't discover her loss until she arrived home.

'Compromise' Rites Held for Comedian

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — W. C. Fields was entombed Thursday in an unusual funeral service that was a compromise between his last wishes and the desires of his family.

Fields, who died Christmas Day, had asked that he be cremated and that there be no funeral service. His family objected to cremation on religious grounds. Nor did Fields want his body put below the ground, so after Thursday's brief service the body was taken to a mausoleum.

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canada's foreign trade channels have been cleared still further, it was disclosed Thursday, through the removal of export and import restrictions on several commodities, chiefly fish and textiles.

Lifting of the war-imposed regulations will permit the unrestricted shipment of many varieties of fish to all countries except enemy alien territory and importation of a large number of cotton textile products without permits.

SOLEX BULBS at EATON'S

Report Coup in Macedonia May Be Part of Soviet Plan

ANKARA, Turkey, (CDN)—Turkish sources are convinced Macedonia is the key point in any further plans by Russia for "assuring" its borders.

Once a successful coup were accomplished there, they believe, even the matter of control of the Dardanelles would become a secondary issue with Turkey, as far as the Russians are concerned.

Geographically, Turkey has been sitting right in the middle as the Red pressure pendulum swings deliberately back and forth from the Caspian to the Adriatic.

A well-informed semi-official source said in the past few months Russia has deliberately kept the Macedonian machinations in the background, while calculatingly applying artificial pressure at both ends of the Caspian-Adriatic arc.

Keeping Hand Hidden

The Russian strategy, this spokesman maintains, appears to have been this: to play a skillful diplomatic game in Trieste and Iran, in order actually to pave the way for contemplated moves in Macedonia.

By yielding certain points in the Trieste negotiations, the Russians were able to mollify Secretary of State Byrnes and his American cohorts, the Turks feel.

Later, with the tension on in Iran, Russia failed to make any expected bid in support of the Azerbaijan dissidents. British officials and public opinion—ever sensitive to any implied political threats to England's position in the Middle East—softened toward Moscow as it watched the central Iranian government move in and mop up on the left-wing Azerbaijan elements.

Improve World Position

With those concessions openly made, Russian political chieftains apparently believe they have improved their position before the world for taking a hand in future Macedonian developments, the Turkish informant says.

Consensus here is that there probably is an attempt at a Macedonian anschluss somewhere in the offing. There are two possibilities.

1. Communists, operating through turbulence and propaganda, may be able to wean Greek Macedonia away from the mother country and attach it to the Macedonian state of Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia.

2. Greek Macedonia might be united with the Macedonian areas of Yugoslavia and Bulgaria to form a separate Macedonian state in a Russian-satellite Balkan federation including Albania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Macedonia.

Would Control Straits

From a military point of view, if Greek Macedonia were brought into the Russian orbit, it would be a practical answer to Russian demands for joint control of the Dardanelles.

Military experts here concede any strong power holding the port of Salonika and bases along the Aegean shores of Macedonia could control shipping through the vital straits almost as effectively as if it held positions in the Dardanelles.

Shanghai Plans Huge Metropolis

SHANGHAI, (Reuters)— A new master plan to develop Shanghai into one of the largest and most modern cities in the world, capable of comfortably accommodating a population of 15,000,000, has been drafted by the newly-organized planning committee of the Shanghai city government.

This plan calls for an extension of the city's northern, western and southern limits by an average of 15 miles.

Insurance Fund Contributions Up

OTTAWA, (CP) — Contributions by employers and employes to the unemployment insurance fund in November reached an all-time high of $7,519,961, the unemployment insurance commission announced Friday.

Previous record month was October, when contributions were $934,387 less.

The November increase was largely accounted for by contributions by dominion government departments. The transport department contributed $873,500 as payment against certain wartime service for which unemployment insurance credit is given free to seamen.

A second payment was $921,415 by the veterans' affairs department for time spent with the armed forces allowed to veterans under certain conditions, after they become established in insurable employment. These payments by D.V.A. are made monthly but were particularly high in November.

Total revenues of the fund during November were $9,642,166. Benefit payments amounted to $2,233,378, a reduction of $266,102 from October.

5 Fliers Saved By Parachuting

LERWICK, Scotland, (AP)—Five American airmen parachuted safely from a Flying Fortress which was lost Thursday night while trying to reach Scotland in a gale. The men were sent to hospital in Lerwick, largest city in the Shetland islands.

Last to be found was the pilot, Lieut. William E. Dee of West Palm Beach, Fla., whose windblown parachute let him down in a small lake near Lerwick.

He had no difficulty in scrambling ashore, but it took police, coast guardsmen and townspeople, aroused by many radio signals and flares, about four hours to find him.

Dee was scratched a little and one of his eyes blackened in the fall.

His companions, who had leaped before him, were rounded one after another and were taken to hospital, where all were reported well.

95% of Veterans Find Employment

OTTAWA, (CP)— Indications are that 95 percent of the roughly 1,000,000 Canadians who served in the forces in the Second Great War have found peacetime occupations, Veterans Affairs Minister Mackenzie said Friday.

In a review of 1946, he estimated possibly 40,000 veterans were unemployed today, although out-of-work benefits at the end of December were paid to fewer than 20,000.

"We have paid about $100,000,000 in re-establishment credits," Mr. Mackenzie said. "Of this, approximately $18,000,000 has been used as part of the down payments on homes. To obtain this it was necessary for veterans to put up about $9,000,000 of their own money. This means down payments of $27,000,000 in cash, and probably represents commitments of about $200,000,000 made by veterans using their credits."

Most for Furniture

From the credits, veterans have bought in excess of $50,000,000 in furniture while another $14,000,000 has been used for working capital for businesses which veterans owned, or for the purchase of new businesses.

Under the Veterans Land act, the hope was expressed a year ago that during 1946 a total of 15,000 settlements would be reached.

"At the end of October actual approval for 21,702 settlements had been given. Of these, 12,592 were full-time farmers, 8,796 were small holders and 314 commercial fishermen. At the year's end actual approvals will be in the neighborhood of 25,000."

40,000 in Colleges

A year ago, the minister said, 20,882 veterans were attending universities or qualifying for admission. In the last 12 months this figure had practically doubled, and at present there were about 40,000 veterans taking advantage of the opportunity for higher education. In vocational training the 16,457 trainees at the end of 1945 had increased to 35,000.

At the end of 1945, 2,377 veterans were receiving assistance under the rehabilitation act while building up businesses or farms to be self-supporting. At the end of October last the total was 16,489.

"Most of these young men and women who have gone into business on their own account are doing surprisingly well," Mr. Mackenzie said.

Pensions to 75,000

In the pension commission the number of disability and dependent pensions in force on account of veterans of the recent war had increased from 45,216 at the end of 1945, to 75,000.

He said "there were times early in the year when our treatment facilities were almost overloaded, and when our medical staff faced a load which seemed almost impossible. While there were of necessity some delays, few of these were serious."

The minister said he had few worries in regard to employment of veterans. Employers had far exceeded the department's expectations in giving veterans opportunity. They had also shown a sympathetic understanding of the philosophy of employing veterans with physical disabilities, with the result that most of the disability cases were being absorbed into employment where they were not under any economic handicap.

Meyer Is Working In Prison Library

OTTAWA, (CP)—German Gen. Kurt Meyer has been working in the library of the Maritime penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B., and has become part of the normal pattern of the institution's day-to-day existence.

The comparatively youthful former commander of one of the Hitler Youth divisions is reported to have made considerable strides in his mastery of the English language since his arrival there to serve a life term for his responsibility for the men who shot a number of Canadian prisoners of war in the first weeks of the western front fighting in 1944.

He was posted to the library after a period of isolation in a hospital ward while the novelty of his presence wore off. His assignment, as are all prison assignments, was made after a study of his talents and inclinations and the nature of his sentence.

The same deep secrecy which marked his departure from England last year and his arrival in Halifax in the uniform of a Canadian private accompanied him within the gates of the penitentiary.

Will Try Nazis For Fliers' Deaths

LONDON, (CP)—Britain is preparing a case against German prisoners-of-war held in Britain in connection with the murder of R.A.F., dominion and other Allied fliers shot after their escape from Stalag Luft III in March, 1944.

The trial will be in Germany and it may be late spring before it opens. Statements still are being taken and the number to be tried is uncertain.

An official German statement at the time said 50 fliers lost their lives while "attempting to escape."

Device to Revolutionize Mapping Areas in Canada

OTTAWA, (CP)—National Research council technicians have developed a device that will short-cut certain phases of map-making from months to days.

A product of radar research, it is an altimeter now being constructed for the mines and resources department, parent body of Canada's efforts to map her vast areas.

For years mapping from the air has shown only the flat surface of the earth while ground survey parties went about the slow task of recording the topography for measurement of the heights of the hills and mountain and the depths of the valleys.

Now, from the altimeter recording in a plane, the exact "profile" of any area can be filled in on the charts. It can contour-map 200 square miles in three hours, a job it has taken a ground survey party months to complete.

With vast areas still uncharted and still others charted incorrectly, it will be of almost unlimited value.

Among the many benefits of contour-mapping is the aid of aviation. Pilots will have available to them maps showing the height of hills and mountains.

By means of still another N.R.C. radar development Trans-Canada Airlines pilots on the Montreal-Ottawa run and the Montreal-Toronto-Windsor route, will be able to call exact distances from the airports at any given minute of the flight.

The device now is being installed at Montreal, and when required electrical supplies are available will be standard equipment in T.C.A. planes and airports.

London Fancy Boy Is Known as 'Spiv'

By Stuart Underhill

LONDON, (CP)—London's version of the zootsuiter, is a ferocious, fancy boy known as a "spiv." Publicity has been given to the species, first in a police court case, then in an editorial in the Evening News.

A police court witness started it with a casual reference to a "spiv." Two barristers involved in the case spent a couple of days trying to get an exact definition.

Said one, "A spiv is a person who gets his living at a racecourse." The other said, "Spivs are people who get a living, but not by working, and by other means than lawful work."

The Evening News thought the second was nearer the mark. It said: "Spivs are not born; they are made. They are hothouse creations, steamy with artificiality. They wear very pointed shoes. They affect long hair brushed back and cropped low on the neck. They like belted camel-hair jackets. They talk like characters in a bad American gangster film.

"Every spiv has a pal who can fix anything and everything for him. For every spiv, remarkable remarkable things fall off the backs of lorries—loads of oranges, fat turkeys, cigars, refrigerators, petrol coupons.

There is also the spiv's older brother, whom London newspapers, for want of a better name, call "gangster." London gangsters are supposed to be handy men with razors, long-bladed knives and bludgeon-like "coshes."

Scotland Yard hasn't much to say on the subject for publication, but it's admitted that groups of men, often drawn from the ranks of Allied deserters, do operate in London's back streets. Their activities may range from shady black market transactions to organizing big-scale jewel and fur robberies.

Asks Labor Help In Price Control

TORONTO, (CP) — A suggestion that organized labor propose conferences with manufacturers and merchants to plan control of prices was made Thursday night by Russell Harvey, A.F.L. organizer, at a meeting of the Toronto district labor council (A.F.L.)

Harvey said labor had been accused of being interested only in higher wages with no concern for the basic economy of the country. This was wrong. "I think we ought to come out with a definite statement that we are more desirous of trying to keep wages in alignment with prices, rather than chasing rising prices in a wild spiral of inflation," he said.

Cat Thrown at Her; Landlady Gets Mad

WINNINPEG, (CP)— Mrs. Nellie Ballen of Winnipeg was fined $50 and costs on two charges of dispossessing tenants and a further $20 and costs for charging excess rent.

Asked by the magistrate why she padlocked the doors of three roomers, Mrs. Ballen said: "I got very mad because one of them threw her cat at me."

May Revise Pact U. S.-Canada Trade

OTTAWA, (CP)—Re-negotiation of the Canada-United States trade agreement may follow a series of trade and tariff hearings to be held in Washington next month, it is reported.

The hearings, which begin Jan. 13, will be preliminary to negotiation of trade agreements between the United States and other countries, of which Canada is one of the most important.

End Daring Flight With Sick Child

PHILADELPHIA, (AP) — An army plane made a well-executed bad weather landing Thursday night after a daring four-hour flight from Atlanta, Ga., with a little girl who has a pin in her lung.

Flying in "impossible weather," so bad that direct authorization for the flight had to be sought from Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, chief of the army air forces, the C-47 transport with Elizabeth Thomas, 3½, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thomas of Opelika, Ala., landed here.

Elizabeth was taken to a hospital where she will undergo an operation Friday for removal of the pin she swallowed Tuesday.

F.B.I. Head Raps U. S. Communists

NEW YORK, (AP) — The Communist party in the United States, with "power and influence out of proportion to its membership," unless halted "will bring the same terror, oppression and tyranny that the forces of Fascism would impose upon us," says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation.

In an article in the current American magazine Hoover discusses the "stealth, trickery and deceit" through which he says party members seek to conceal their real goals of violent revolution, atheism and support of Russia and the Red flag in preference to the United States and the American flag.

"The disloyalty of American Communists is no longer a matter of conjecture," Hoover says in the article.

Free University Australia's Pride

PERTH, Australia, (CP)—Interest of state government leaders and a newspaper proprietor in the advancement of education has produced in Western Australia a model university of which the whole country is proud.

It is the University of Western Australia, set up in a group of modern buildings on the outskirts of Perth. It opened just before the First Great War, supported by a state government which proposed that its facilities should be available to all. Tuition has always been free and original enrollment of 156 has grown to 10 times that number of students paying no fees.

The state university project first took the attention of the Western Australia government early in the century and in 1909 a royal commission was appointed to explore the possibilities.

The principle of free tuition was laid down. By act of the Western Australian legislature, the government committed itself to grant $55,000 a year to the maintenance of the university.

The amounts were increased as the university grew and today the state government provides about $110,000 of the university's $160,000 budget. The grant roughly covers the cost of teaching staff.

Lethbridge Free Of Traffic Deaths

LETHBRIDGE, (CP)— Lethbridge went through 1946 without a single traffic fatality and Chief Constable George Harvey earnestly hoped Friday that motorists would be cautious and duplicate that record during 1947.

Thief Wants to Clear Conscience, Mails $100 to Settle $40 Robbery

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., (AP)— A $40 theft committed in a Clarksburg restaurant last September netted the restaurant manager, the cashier and the owner of the "borrowed" getaway car $100 in conscience money from an anonymous former soldier who said he was the thief.

In pencilled notes the writer sent $60 to manager Frank H. Johnson (the extra $20 was "interest"); $20 to cashier W. C. Robertson to "pay your doctor bill"; and another $20 to Robert F. Hickman, city editor of the Clarksburg Exponent, "to pay for borrowing your car."

"A returned soldier became restless," he explained, "awful restless, and needed excitement. He needed excitement, to hear bullets and shells whistle . . .

"He realized his mistake and he settled down. But his conscience bothered him.

"Mister, I'm trying to correct that before I marry. I can't get married and have that hanging over my head. That is the only robbery I ever made or ever will make. Mister, if you filed any charges against me, please drop them."

Commence Rescue Mountain Climbers

TIVARU, South Island, N.Z. (AP)—Sketchy reports by portable radio Friday said rescuers had brought down "some" of the 11 mountain climbing students who have been snowbound for two days on a glacier by an ice slide which killed two others.

Police rescue parties, led by mountaineers, made their way to the scene of the accident, 8,000 feet high in the rugged, isolated Mount Cook range, and returned several of the six injured students over icy ridges to the floor of the Hopkins river valley by litter.

It was feared other survivors would be forced to spend a third night in the open. In response to an urgent request additional medical supplies were dropped to them by airplane Friday.

Bulldozers cleared a 16-mile trail to enable wheeled vehicles to approach the top of the valley with supplies and pick up the rescued, some reported badly in need of hospital treatment.

Fourteen students from Victoria University college in Wellington, four of them girls, were 8,000 feet up 12,349-foot Mount Cook Wednesday, nearing the top of high Saddle peak, when a misstep of one girl started a snow avalanche that sent the climbers, roped together, crashing down Mueller glacier. Two young Wellington men were killed. The other 11 were trapped, six of them hurt.

One man, uninjured, struggled 30 miles to a sheep ranch near Christchurch, on the island's east coast, with news of the tragedy. He led rescuers toward the scene after a rest.

Government Seeks Enter Portal Suit

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States government Tuesday asked court permission to enter the judicial controversy over portal-to-portal pay.

The justice department, Attorney General Tim Clark announced, wants to file a brief in the Mount Clemens Pottery company case, which touched off a broadside of union suits for back pay. Total claims by various unions now exceed $2,000,000,000.

John F. Sonnett, assistant attorney general, said: "We are not entering the case on the side of either the employer or the employes."

Judge Frank Picard of Detroit ruled that the Mount Clemens pottery workers are entitled to back pay for time required to go from time clock to work bench and for similar duties.

The United States supreme court last June upheld his ruling but directed him to figure out more accurately the time for which the workers were to be compensated. That is the job on which the justice department offered its help.

PITTSBURGH, (AP)— Damages of $15,000,000 were asked Thursday by the Rockwell manufacturing company in a counter suit to a $6,000,000 portal-to-portal retroactive wage and damage claim.

Col. W. F. Rockwell, president, described the suit as "unprecedented" and said the company was seeking to recover what he charged were losses suffered as the result of slow-downs.

Reveal 'Watchers' Spied on Japanese

MELBOURNE, Australia, (CP)— The story of "Ferdinand," kept secret during the war in the Pacific, is told for the first time in a book published in Melbourne.

"Ferdinand" was the code name given to an Australian coast watching service which functioned in the islands north of Australia. The book—"The Coast Watchers"—is by Commander Eric A. Feldt, Australian naval officer who was in command.

Formed originally in 1919, the coast watching organization had 800 members when war broke out. Most were island planters, government officials, prospectors, sailors and some Australian army commandos.

Their wartime work was to report movements of Japanese shipping, planes and troops and for their undercover service they won many awards for bravery. They worked behind Japanese lines and reported what they saw by wireless. Their finest hour is said to have been the time of critical battles in the Solomons in 1942 when they operated from Bougainville to Guadalcanal where United States marines battled desperately.

Ice-Breaker Takes Food to Hamlet

CHARLOTTETOWN, (CP) — A brief message received by department of transport officials here tonight from the Saurel said the government ice-breaker had reached the ice-bound village of Natashquan on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence Thursday, too late to bring the 100 residents of the fishing hamlet their New Year's dinners.

The Saurel started out for Natashquan Monday with 40 tons of foodstuffs when it was reported the village was short of supplies after a smaller coastal vessel was turned back by the ice.

Halt Britons' Risky Desert Trek In Quest of New Life in Africa

LONDON, (AP)—The government of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan has called a halt to the "covered wagon" movements of Britons seeking to cross the deserts in search of new homes in South and East Africa.

Scores of British families, most headed by ex-servicemen, have attempted the 10,000-mile trek from London to Cape town in poorly-financed jalopy convoys. Hundreds more were planning a try when the Sudanese government announced that no more permits for the crossing would be granted "until the situation has been reviewed."

The government statement released here—without mentioning the dangers—said the trekkers underestimated expenses of a trans-African expedition. Some of the conveyances were so old and overloaded they broke down repeatedly and "so far all have failed to cross the desert stretches."

The adventurers, on the average spent £200 ($800) before arriving at Khartoum, capital of the Sudan, the statement said.

The exodus from Britain's post-war austerity in search of a promised land of jobs and new homes began last August.

Citizenship Week

To celebrate the new status created by the Canadian Citizenship Act, which became effective the first of the year, and to emphasize some of its implications, January 5th to 11th has been set aside in this country as Canadian Citizenship Week.

Edmonton's celebration will be centred about two interesting and important functions on January 6th.

In the afternoon of that day an official ceremony will take place in the legislative buildings, when a number of aliens will be given naturalization under the new act.

In the evening of that day a public ceremony will take place in the Westglen high school auditorium when Premier Manning and Mayor Ainlay will take out citizenship papers under the new act, and a pageant, prepared and directed by the Allied Arts Council, will be presented and other impressive entertainment will be offered.

Every Edmonton citizen should if possible participate in some way in these ceremonies. For the new act effects a great change in the status of Canadians in two respects;

First, it creates a distinctive Canadian citizenship which has not existed in law before. Hitherto, Canadians were British subjects, but not in the legal sense Canadians. Now, without ceasing to be British citizens, in the sense of imperial citizenship, they may register their children as Canadians and enjoy a distinctive nationality of their own.

Secondly, it adds dignity and meaning through this change, to Canada's national sovereignty. It is a further step in this Dominion's process of growing up.

This is of vital interest to everyone. And everyone should have a part in the celebrations incidental to it.

A Strikeless Year?

One of the most hopeful New Year messages to the people of Canada came from Mr. Percy Bengough, President of the Trades and Labor Congress. Organized labor, he said, does not anticipate any disputes which will result in work stoppage during 1947.

He added that a sensible discussion around a conference table would save a lot of grief, worry and bad feelings. And it might be added, a lot of lost wages, lost dividends, lost employment and output also in industries not directly involved in the dispute.

Every person in Canada will hope that this promise of industrial peace may come true. And will echo the conviction that it can come true if labor and management will employ the conciliatory method suggested for settling disputes before they culminate in dead-locks. Everyone, that is, with the exception of any person who makes money or gains prestige by promoting strife.

The vivid memories of 1946 make it a little difficult at present to imagine a year without strikes—or even without strikes serious enough to visibly slow down the job of rebuilding the national economy on a pttern of plenty. But we did have have such years in former peacetimes. And it happen again if labor and management wil just do their dispute-settling by conference instead of conflict.

On this condition, but on no other, 1947 can be a year of that kind.

Where Danger Lurks

Hardly a day passes without bringing tragic proof from somewhere in Alberta that there was urgent need of the campaign started by fire-prevention officials to make the public more conscious of the fire-hazard.

Homes and business places, in town and country, go up in smoke in unending succession. This has come to be regarded as a matter of course. If nothing more serious resulted, there would be little hope that the campaign could stir public interest to the action point.

But lives are lost in these conflagrations, with startling frequency. That should give impetus to the drive for safety. Burned houses and stores can be rebuilt, and if they were insured the owners may not be much out of pocket. But those who perish in the flames cannot be brought back.

It is seldom that a fire is deliberately set. Police records prove that. Not many of them occur because of deliberate carelessness on the part of owners or occupants of buildings. The great majority are due to defects in heating equipment which were not observable to a casual examination, or to other dangerous conditions which were not suspected.

The point of this campaign to reduce the fire-hazard is to emphasize the need of looking for the hazard where it is not supposed to exist. Unless owners and occupants will take the trouble to make sure that buildings are safe—and not merely assume that they are safe—there is not much hope that the fire record will improve through public reaction to the official appeal.

Basic Facts

In a year-end review of the operations of the Canadian National Railways, President R. C. Vaughan gave some facts and figures which show why the railways are asking permission to boost freight rates.

Increased costs of materials and higher wage bills raised operating expenses for the year $90,000,000 above the figures for 1939, the last previous peace year. The average wage of employes was up 43 per cent, ties cost 93 per cent more, steel was higher by 19 per cent, coal by 51 per cent, and lumber and other forest products by 57 per cent.

While operating costs were up, operating revenues went down, by an estimated 8 per cent. Slightly more freight was carried than in 1945, but the cash return was $16,500,000 less, because the average haul was shorter and the classification different. Passenger traffic was down by 27 per cent.

Another factor, which the general public are not in position to know; a freight car now carries less tonnage in a year than it did in wartime. The pressure eased, loading and unloading are slower, and the car is idle more of the time. Adoption of the five-day week in industries operate in the same way, to stall cars and cut down the yearly car-tonnage.

These facts, Mr. Vaughan says, indicate why the railways are asking for "an upward revision in rates on all freight traffic". They may be taken as showing the background against which the railways' argument for increased rates will be drawn. They are entitled therefore to attention as candid as the statement in which they are presented in advance of the hearing of the applicaton.

They point also to the urgency of a thorough examination into the whole position of the railways, with a view to equalizing the burden as against one locality and another and one industry and another.

It can be taken for granted that no one wants to pay higher freight rates. That is the negative side of the case. This then is the time to survey the whole situation, investigate possible alternatives, and eliminate discrimination. If there are less objectionable means to stabilize railway service, this is the time to find out what they are.

The country could not get along without its railways. It would not be satisfied with inefficient service and could not afford that expensive luxury. But if the railways are to supply the service they must get money enough from some quarter to meet the cost. Falling revenue minus mounting expenses produce just one answer—deficits, and deficits always imply depleted service, run-down equipment and general demoralization.

Whatever may be done to provide the railways with the financial ballast they need, Mr. Vaughan deserves public thanks for frankly stating in advance of the hearing the basic conditions with which the National system, as all other railway systems, are confronted.

Lipstick is something that merely adds color and flavor to an old pastime.

Ely Culbertson the bridge authority is now devoting his talents and fortune toward world peace. No doubt he has been impressed by a lot of frightfulness which started over a game.

Petroleum deposits of the Athabasca as described by Professor Bell cannot fail to have a great effect for good upon the future of the Northwest in general and this town and district in particular. It was formerly supposed that these deposits existed only on the Athabasca some forty or fifty miles below McMurray and about 350 miles north of Edmonton, and that as a stretch of unnavigable river extended from McMurray 80 miles up to the Grand Rapids there was no chance of utilizing them until a railway was built. It now appears that only thirty miles from Grand Rapids around the great bend of the river, and 25 miles in a direct line and not more than ten farther north than the Grand Rapids, is struck the petroleum bend which visibly extends for nearly 150 miles without a break—the most extensive deposits in the known world except perhaps the similar deposits on the shores of the Caspian sea in Russia.

Plain Canadian

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

As from New Year's Day I have been writing for U.S. readers as well as Canadian.

I don't know how the Americans will like my stuff—for there is a difference between Canadians-in-the-mass and American-in-the-mass. The noted U.S. author and lecturer, Scott Nearing, told me last summer in Alberta that he could distinguish a Canadian audience from an American audience—even if he were blindfolded. I was beginning to fear that he was about to comment on a different odor, or scent, or B. O., but he quickly relieved me by saying, "They ask such different kinds of questions."

PHILPOTT

HUGH McLENNAN, our own novelist, has a most penetrating article in the latest issue of Maclean's Magazine on Canadians and Americans. But there is nothing in it as witty and wise as his own recent statement to a group of authors which ran about like this:

"Canadian authors are like our Prime Minister, Mackenzie King. He believes that the less said about anything the better, especially if it is important, and above all if it is Canadian."

That formula has been a main key in Mr. King's long term of office. He is well aware that ten times more politicians talk themselves out of office than ever talk themselves in.

But as a formula for developing a two-language nationality, I am not so sure. After a century and a half of trying to live together in Canada all that the French and English-speaking sections of the country have achieved is what Andre Siegfried correctly called "modus vivendi without cordiality."

If you don't understand that lawyer's language, it means how couples, who haven't a spark of real love, live together in unholy matrimony when there is no chance of getting a divorce or separation.

THE KEY to the difference between Canada and the States, I think, is that Canada IS a colony, in fact.

I am a fourth generation native-born Canadian myself — and know very well that the quickest way for an Englishman in a London pub to get himself a punch in the nose is to call some Canadian soldier—with a couple of beers in him — "a bleeding colonial."

The fact is that we have colonial ties — not only politically to Downing Street in London, but otherwise to Rome, and also to Wall Street, New York. Even some leftists who complain loudest about the colonial dog-chains to London and New York, sometimes seem to have a hankering to tie new one to Moscow.

I AM NO PROPHET, so cannot tell for sure whether Canada will emerge and survive as a separate national entity. I hope so—and believe so.

It will depend, I think, on whether or not the British Commowealth survives—and that, in turn, depends on whether Britain joins or stays out of the United Europe that is plainly soon coming out of this age of world convulsion.

But Canada will never reach maturity until Canada begins to stand on her own legs, and Canadians speak for themselves.

The shackles which make Canada an appendage of Downing Street are not maintained by British wishes—but by Canada's mental colonialism. Canada hasn't even got a constitution of her own—but still operates under a law of the 1867 British Parliament. We still get our Governors-General sent to us—we haven't even got a flag. Like Peter Pan in the Christmas pantomime, Canada refuses to grow up. But, unlike Peter Pan, we haven't stayed small — and "cute." We look big enough and, are big enough, to know better.

AS FROM JANUARY ,first we have been Canadian citizens by law as well as commonsense and fact. We will no longer have to put ourselves down on official papers as English, Scots, Irish, Germans, French, Russians, Hottentot — or anything else but what we actually are—just plain Canadians.

It is a real step forward—but we have quite a way to go.

Crime and Punishment

By F. B. WALKER

LONDON: Outbreak of war postponed for nearly a decade reform of Britain's penal system. A bill moved by Viscount Templewood—he was then Sir Samuel Hoare — had already been debated in the Commons. Like much other legislation, it was postponed for quieter days.

In the opinion of Viscount Templewood, those days have now arrived and he recently moved, in the Lords, a resolution urging that "a comprehensive measure of penal reform should be passed into law without delay."

Mr. Chuter Ede, the Home Secretary, is known to be anxious to bring a penal reform bill before the House. Viscount Templewood declared the matter urgent enough to be given priority. He backed his belief with some hard facts and Viscount Templewood pointed out that during the war years the increase in the number of young offenders under 17 was 55 per cent; in the group between 17 and 21, 52 percent and over 21, 42 percent. Crimes against the person increased from 1,583 in 1938 to 2,459 in 1945; cases of receiving, fraud and false pretenses rose from 5,333 to 9,364; breaking and entering from 10,814 to 21,260; larceny from 56,092 to 75,975.

Offences committed by women more than doubled during the war years. A particularly sinister development was in the number of convictions of women for cruelty to children. These jumped from 345 to 1,170. The female population of British prisons was doubled.

Juvenile delinquency presents a similar picture, though as Viscount Samuel pointed out in his address, the number of juvenile delinquents was still only three in every thousand of the juvenile population.

With this background, Viscount Templewood then made his criticisms of the existing system. Short sentences of imprisonment for minor delinquents and repeated sentences of a more severe character for habitual criminals had been shown by experience to be ineffective.

The history of the criminal in Britain is almost always the same. First some minor delinquency; a day or two's sentence, perhaps a week or two's sentence in the ordinary prison, "just enough to remove its deterrent effect." Then a gradual drift into the hardened criminal.

He offered these suggestions: legislation prohibiting courts of summary jurisdiction sending to prison any boy or girl under 16; improvements and developments in the law of probation; a further extension of remand homes; an extentsion of Borstal treatment with greater classification between one institution and the other; alternative forms of imprisonment including residential hostels, where offenders would live for a specified period during which, however, they would carry on their normal occupations and keep in touch with their families..

For the hardened criminal an alternative should be provided to the present Persistant Offenders act. This allows for the double sentencing of a repeater with one sentence being given for the offence and the second for previous character. Instead, Lord Templewood would provide a single sentence with a definite time—he does not consider the indeterminate sentence successful — at the same time vesting power in the Home Secretary to anticipate a release subject to good conduct.

He was opposed to corporal punishment. He quoted the Cadogan report which showed that "for the purpose either of reforming the criminal or as acting as a deterrent it was ineffective."

He then went into the matter of mental and abnormal cases. The question of insanity in British courts is governed by rules laid down approximately a century ago. This section of the law needed considerable readjustment and he also suggested, as the 1938 bill had provided, medical treatment in doubtful cases.

The history of penal treatment shows it has largely been based upon the belief that the sole object of punishment was retribution and the greater the severity of the law, the fewer the crimes that would be committed. "Over and over again hard facts have proved this view to be false; that the more ruthless the punishment, the more savage were the crimes and the worse was the discipline in the prisons."

Lord Jowett, the Lord Chancellor, opposed the resolution, not on the grounds of need but because, he said, it was impracticable to introduce it at the present time. On a division, the government was defeated but defeats in the Lords on such issues as this no longer precipitate a crisis. The bill, when it comes, will no doubt contain many of Viscount Templewood's suggestions.

Legislative Loudspeaker

Vancouver Province.

Obvious advantages which leather-lunged members of the BC Legislature have always enjoyed will be nullified at the next session of the House, when a public address system will be used to help MLA's who are short of wind power.

There will be one microphone to each two desks in the Legislature and only the member who has the floor will be able to use the loudspeaker. Until the speaker has finished and "thrown his switch" any member who tries to interrupt him will have to do it on his own vocal cords; the Speaker of the House being the only one who will be equipped with a master switch.

No longer will an honorable member blessed with a second wind and innumerable shades of rasp-like tones be able to wear out a weak-voiced opposition. All the latter will have to do, when their turn comes, is to pull the "mike" a little closer and breathe into it a little louder.

Veterans in Business

BY HARPER PROWSE, MLA

It is expected that the business loan for veterans will be available some time in February. No date has been set for the promulgation of the bill but it is generally understood that the job of drawing up the regulations has been completed and now the banks are having the special documents which are required prepared. As soon as these have been completed and distributed the banks will be ready for business.

I understand that the maximum obtainable under this loan is $3,000. In order to get this the applicant must have an investment of his own of at least half the amount which he wants to borrow—in other words he can borrow two dollars for every one dollar he is putting up himself.

The actual business of making the loan will be left to the banks. The department of veterans affairs will counsel the veteran and if they think he is qualified to operate the business he wants to get into, they will issue some form of certificate which will indicate to the bank that the applicant is entitled to make application for a loan. DVA will not decide whether or not the bank should make the loan. That responsibility will be left to the bank.

THIS LOAN will not be handed out to everybody who asks for it. The applicant will have to persuade the bank manager from whom he requests the loan that he is a person of sound character and ability. He will have to persuade the bank manager that he has a sound position and that he has the ability and an opportunity of succeeding in his business so that he will be able to meet his amortized payments as they become due. Veterans who are intending to apply for the loan should keep these facts in mind in order to save themselves disappointment.

The government, in order to permit the bankers to be more lenient than they might be normally, has agreed to guarantee the banks against loss up to 25 per cent of the total value of the loans they make under this act. But the situation in business is far different than under the Veterans Land Act, where title to the property which secures the loan remains in the hands of the Director until all payments have been completed so that the loan is always secured by property valued at more than the debt. It is also different from the re-establishment credit which is the veteran's own money and all he has to do is to satisfy the department that he needs it to aid in his re-establishment.

THIS LOAN is a hard-boiled business proposition. That is why the government has arranged to have it made available through the banks. The government figures the banks can say no easier than a government department can and with less interference. So if you are intending to apply for one of these loans, make sure you have a good business proposition outlined so that you can convince the bank manager that you are doing him a favor by letting him help you.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Editor, Bullettin.—Among the questions yet to be settled between the Dominion and Provincial governments is the question of old age pensions. Also it was reported the original offer made by Mr. King was the taking over by the Dominion of the old age pension, to be paid at a certain age without the means test to everybody within that age. This would be a boon to the people of this Province. And as one of the fields of taxation given over to the Dominion is that of succession duties, there does not appear any just cause why the provincial government should retain the right to tax for old age pensions. It would also do away with the double system of administration and also a lot of the objectional features connected with the Old Age Pensions as we have it at the present time.

The Dominion pays family allowance as a national responsibility. Why not pensions to old people as well? Many organizations from time to time pass resolutions to have the age lowered and have allowances increased. However, the crux of the question as to whether or not the old age pensioners get the full allowance lies in the mean's test.

There are a good many old people deprived of the full amount because they are supposed to be in receipt of revenue from farm or services, whereas such revenue sometimes has no substantial basis and is only used to reduce the rate of allowance. So it seems to me the Dominion could assume this responsibility and even be paid by the province the monies collected by taxation for this cause. And veterans please note, it would also look after the veterans' allowance as it applies to old age as you too are subjected to the means test.

The "Dry" Island

Charlottetown Patriot.

The new Vendor Shop is now open—four wickets. This is another improvement the Patriot went after. We also advocated hours to conform with other store regulations—we got that too after receiving a bit of a "snub". The new shop now looks like a first National Bank—and it IS, as far as the provincial government is concerned—their biggest source of earned revenue. There is some good Labatt's in—that won't last long. The other precious "food stuffs" are in neat cases and their beautiful colors blend very nicely with the finishings and surroundings.

The place looks really respectable. The clerks are all on their jobs and we understand strictly teetotallers—when it's easy to get they don't want it.

New Colonial Policy Stresses Natives Profiting by Minerals

By James McCook

LONDON, (CP)—Dr. J. T. Williamson, the former Montreal geologist whose Tanganyika diamond mine produced gems worth £2,000,000 ($8,000,000) in 1946, probably is the last of his kind in the British colonial empire.

In the past, empires have followed colonial prospectors who found gold and diamonds in remote places, but soon the empire is going right along with them as their employer.

A recent memorandum by E. Creech Jones, colonial secretary, has informed colonial governments of the labor administration's views on mineral deposits, the basic premise being that the colonial people generally, instead of a few mine owners, should share the riches beneath the soil.

This will involve government participation in surveys and in development of new finds.

The colonial governments also will consider the desirability of reacquiring for the crown mineral rights already alienated and this would bring under consideration the Williamson discoveries.

The colonial office geologists, incidentally, may decide whether the Williamson mine is the largest in the world as claimed by the Tanganyika department of lands and mines, and contested by the great diamond firm of De Beers Consolidated mines, which, at its recent annual report said that the claim had been made "quite erroneously."

De Beers diamond properties within South Africa will not be subject to any action by colonial governments, but diamond properties in the colonies probably will receive prompt attention, mainly because of industrial requirements for diamonds and their importance as a medium of exchange.

Funds will be allocated for the maintenance and extension of government geological surveys throughout the colonial territories, and prospectors, with the prospect of being unable to keep the finds they make, are expected to seek employment with the government rather than continue on their own.

Caught in Storm, 3 Badly Frozen

SWIFT CURRENT, (CP)—Three members of a MacMahon, Sask., family are recovering in hospital here from exposure, suffered when they were lost for 15 hours in a blizzard with 30 below zero temperatures.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Riemer and their daughter Irene, 9, were found by search parties Dec. 27 only a mile from their home. The family was stranded when the horse pulling their sleigh became exhausted.

Mr. Riemer left his wife and daughter in the sleigh in an attempt to find assistance but collapsed when he reached an abandoned shack.

All three were badly frozen but were reported to be "improving."

SEEK GERMAN TERRITORY

PARIS, (Reuters) — The Duchy of Luxembourg will demand from Germany part of the Moselle region including the towns of Vinden and Bitbourg, a French foreign office statement said Thursday.

China's lumber trade is booming.

May Deport Aliens Without Hearings

NEW YORK, (AP) — A United States circuit court of appeals ruling made Thursday is expected to open the way for the mass deportation of 350 German aliens without resort to hearings or court orders.

The ruling affirmed the action of Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind in dismissing a writ of habeas corpus sought by Herman Schlueter, New York city bartender.

Schlueter, 31, a member of the German-American bund who refused to serve in the armed forces and was interned during the war, was selected by federal officials in a test of the validity of a 130-year-old federal law empowering the attorney general to deport without hearing aliens deemed to be dangerous to public peace and safety.

Canada to Meet Wheat Contract

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Canada's contract of 160,000,000 bushels of wheat to Great Britain will be met before the end of the current crop year, July 31, Trade Minister MacKinnon said her Thursday.

Everything possible was being done to step up shipments from both coasts to ease the still tight wheat supply situation in Britain, he said. The minister was in Winnipeg on a one-day visit to meet officials of the Canadian Wheat board and the board of grain commissioners.

$442,000,000 More Portal Pay Asked

DETROIT, (AP) — Portal pay suits asking a total of $410,000,000 in claims and damages were filed Thursday by the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) against the "Big Three" of the automobile industry in Michigan.

In addition, the union said, suits totalling $32,210,000 are being filed against the Ford Motor company simultaneously outside Michigan.

With claims already on record, this brings to $490,000,000 the total asked by the union from Ford, General Motors and Chrysler.

All totals represent the union's claims for time lost, plus damages.

Elliott Sees Rise Of Tax Evaders

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canadians, who paid their taxes willingly enough during the war, are relaxing their sense of moral values and tending towards tax evasion practices, C. Fraser Elliott, veteran Canadian income tax collector, said Friday.

Mr. Elliott, former deputy minister of national revenue for taxation, recently appointed Canadian ambassador to Chile, discussed the attitude towards income tax before the Ottawa board of trade.

Taxation, said Mr. Elliott, had been heavy, and "when you touch a man's pocket you touch something that is likely to bring out his character." During the war, 30 percent of our gross national income had been taken away by taxes, with which revenues Canada paid 50 percent of the war cost as she went along.

Selfish Trend Spreading

In his 27 years of government service, Mr. Elliott said he had found the people as a whole "basically desirous" of complying with the law.

"This was particularly so during the war, even though taxes were so heavy the people became substantially the servants of the state, though employed in their own private enterprise."

Expressing apprehension that Canadians now might lose some of their good qualities of citizenship, he stated:

"A selfish trend is spreading. The idea is to get what you can by way of an advantage without complying with the accompanying national obligations.

Require Watching

"No country can really succeed if the majority of its people accept the attitude that tax evaders are something of a clever class, more to be admired for their cleverness than condemned for their failure to pay just taxes, thereby shifting their burdens to others."

While such matters had not yet reached a serious state, they required "more careful watching than in wartime."

Finns Pay Soviet Reparations Fines

HELSINKI, (Reuters) — Finland must pay Russia fines of $200,000 worth of goods a month until she has made up the $5,000,000 deficit she incurred in her reparations deliveries in 1946.

Lauri Kivinen, chief of the reparations industries board, estimates the deficit cannot be wiped out until next September—which means Finland's annual reparations of $35,500,000 will be increased by fines of $1,600,000 to $37,100,000 in 1947.

The deficit has been incurred by the metal industries which had to supply about one-third of the value of all reparations deliveries in 1946. As Finland is primarily a wood pulp and timber exporting country, the metal industries had been hard put to supply the factory plant, steel cables, dynamos and ships stipulated under the 1944 Russo-Finnish armistice.

Industrialists ascribe the arrears to three causes: Finland's shortages of foreign currency which makes the purchase abroad of essential raw materials difficult; delays by British and American and other manufacturers in supply of instruments and equipment needed to step up production; and the harsh application of fines.

Two examples of how late deliveries from Britain and the United States have held back reparations given in the Finnish press were:

A 2,000-ton merchant ship was completed except for one small navigational instrument on order from the United States. The Soviet authorities would not accept delivery of the ship without the instrument and charged fines on the whole vessel.

Plant for manufacturing prefabricated wooden houses was complete except for some tubing on order from Britain. This arrived late and fines were charged on the entire plant.

Although many Finns complain this fining system is harsh, it is provided for in the 1944 armistice.

Attacks Attitude Gen. McNaughton

NEW YORK, (CP) — The Daily Mirror in an editorial Friday charged Gen. McNaughton, Canadian representative on the United Nations atomic commission, with "running interference for the Slavic group."

The Hearst-owned newspaper described Gen. McNaughton's conduct in this commission as "curious" and asked, "Does he not realize that the United States has the (atomic) bomb and can prefer to keep it without further discussion?"

The editorial presumably referred to the Canadian proposal, laid before the atomic commission last month, urging that wording of a United States resolution calling for elimination of the big power veto on punishment for violations of atomic energy control be made to conform to phraseology of a disarmament resolution which the general assembly of the U. N. had passed earlier.

The general assembly resolution recommended that enforcement of arms limitation regulations, including control of atomic energy, be placed within the framework of the security council, where the veto applies.

The Mirror editorial, dealing in general with United States relations with Britain and Canada, also contended that "should another war occur—and we hope not—Canada would be largely dependent upon the United States for its defences in the Atlantic and the Pacific and even in the Arctic."

Wetaskiwin Upsets Canadian Sextet 6-3

Bill Gostick Figures in 3 For Colonels

Wetaskiwin's high flying Colonels had too much scoring punch for the Edmonton Canadians, playing their second game in two nights, and skated off with a 6-3 triumph in a fast City Hockey League game played before another comparatively large crowd at the Arena Thursday night.

Bill Gostick provided most of the spark around the net for the visitors to score twice and assist in another while line-mates Jim Malin and Tony Hauck also turned in top-flight performances to pick up two points each. Malin fired two goals and Hauck supplied a pair of assists. Bill Gauf and Tom McCready tallied the other two counters.

NORM KIRK was the standout of the Canadian sextet, playing brilliant hockey in leading the Canuck scorers and helping to keep the opposition disorganized when the home club was shorthanded. He scored the Canadians first two goals while the other came from Ron Matthews off a pass from Harry Groves.

Canadians carried a good share of the play in all three periods and if it hadn't of been for the outstanding work of Earl Kaker in the Wetaskiwin nets the score would have been much closer.

Wetaskiwin jumped into a 1-0 lead during the seventh minute of play when Malin drove in Gosticks pass while Canadians were shorthanded, Ron Matthews serving a penalty. Norm Kirk came back to deadlock the count before the period ended, however, when he netted on a solo effort at the 18 minute mark.

THE COLONELS came right back in the second period and before they hit the half-way mark, Gostick and Malin had shot them into a 3-1 lead, Gostick firing in Brown's goal-mouth relay and Malin banging in Tony Hauck's pass from a scramble in front. Kirk got one back for Canadians shortly after Malin's last counter to cap a power play while Kerstein was in the penalty box, but Gostick and Hauck came back 33 seconds later on a neat passing play to make it 4-2.

With the Canadians again putting on the pressure near the end of the second canto, Ron Matthews shortened the Colonels' lead by rifling a 10-footer through a mass of players.

CANADIANS had trouble getting their plays organized in the third as they were short-handed for four minutes and when they did get a good scoring opportunity, Baker was right there to stop all shots on goal. While they were holding off the Canadian attack, the Wetaskiwin sextet managed to increase their lead to 6-3.

LIKELY RECORD ENTRIES IN BASKETBALL PLAYOFFS

Prospects of over 60 teams playing off in the various divisions of the Alberta Amateur Basketball Asssociation playdowns this spring, a number which would be a new high for provincial playdowns, appear exceptionally bright.

Secretary-treasurer of the AABA, Clare Hollingsworth, has reported that despite the fact that entries do not close until January 15, over 20 have been received already.

PROSPECTIVE CLUBS ARE URGED by the AABA official to secure official entry blanks, players' lists and registration cards from their nearest district organizer immediately. These forms when completed are to be forwarded to C. M. Hollingsworth, Commercial High School, Edmonton, prior to Jan. 15.

District organizers are as follows: Dr. J. Harris Walker, Raymond; Reg. Houghton, 1639 - 6th St., N. W., Calgary, and W. Armour Bull, YMCA, Edmonton.

THREE OF LAST YEAR'S CHAMPIONS have already affiliated. Cardston high school girls, Cardston high school "A" boys, and Edmonton YMCA Toilers, junior men's champions, are in the race as early entries. Toilers recently won the Saskatchewan juvenile tournament championship at Moose Jaw and have made application for western Canadian competition.

Competition is provided by the AABA in the following divisions: senior men, senior women, intermediate men, intermediate women, junior men, high school girls, high school "A" boys, high school "B" boys.

Champions last year were: Raymond Jacks, senior men; Edmonton Mortons, senior women; Edmonton Legion, intermediate men; Edmonton Toilers, junior men; Jefferson High School, "B" boys; Cardston High School, "A" boys, intermediate women and high school girls.

Ottawa's Barb Scott To Skate in Europe

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 (CP) — A pretty 18-year-old girl will fly out of Ottawa this week-end and, automatically and simultaneously, assure Canada of a new women's skating champion for 1947 and give the country its highest hopes for international athletic prominence in this new year.

Barbara Ann Scott, a skater since she was seven, will represent the Dominion in the European figure skating championships in Davos, Switzerland Feb. 1 and 2 and in the world's championships at Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 14-16.

BUT HER DEPARTURE will mean an end to her four-year-reign over the Canadian championships, a fact which gave her one of her few pangs of regret as she prepared to fly overseas. It will mean that some other name will come out on top in the Canadian meet at Toronto this month.

She expects to be back home at the end of February in time to go in training for retention of the biennial North American title she won at New York in 1945, a victory which made her the choice of the selectors for the Lou Marsh memorial trophy awarded to Canada's outstanding athlete. Her successor in 1946 was Joe Krol, Toronto Argonaut football wizard.

WHEN BARBARA ANN takes the ice in Switzerland she will be putting to the test skills she has developed under a rigid training schedule since November. Day after day, hour after hour, she has been practising.

Althought she was all of seven before she finally got her first pair of skates, she's been rising steadily and brilliantly ever since. Now she is invading Europe for the first time.

Her post-skating ambition is to take a domestic science course and prepare herself properly for marriage.

Skating Champion Going to Europe

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 -(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott, North American figure skating champion, will leave Ottawa by air for Europe this weekend with her sights on the European and world's skating championships.

THE 18-YEAR-OLD star will automatically forfeit her chances of winning for a fourth time the Canadian championships scheduled for Toronto this month but she will be home again in time to defend her continental title in Ottawa in late March.

Miss Scott will probably carry to Europe the Dominion's highest hopes for international athletic prominence in any field this year. Her first test comes in the European championships in Switzerland Feb. 1 and 2 and her big chance at Stockholm's world's tourney Feb. 14-16.

Hunt Starts Tonight Fresh Boxing Talent

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP) — Fresh fighting talent has been scarce lately so promoter Mike Jacobs starts the New Year off in Madison Square Garden tonight with a talent hunt.

This is not amateur night. There are three 10-rounders and Mike's cash-counters are looking for a crowd of 12,000 and a gate of $50,000.

Mike is an old hand at building up budding prospects from these "all-star" cards. In the past he's come up from these bargain-counter clout parties with such swatters as Tami Mauriello, a money-maker among heavyweights, and Billy Soose, who went on to win the middleweight championship after getting his first shove toward the top in this kind of a scramble.

THIS TIME, Mike is tossing Julio Jiminez, a Mexican against Roman Alvarez, a Brooklyn lightweight; Johnny Colan, a Long Island light-heavy who's been taking on the heavyweights here lately, against John Thomas, a stockey Florida flailer, and Bee Bee Washington, a Washington middleweight ranked well up among the 160-pounders this year, against Joe Curcio, a southpaw from Newark, N. J.

Mike, himself, won't be on hand. He's still in hospital, slowly pulling out of the critical illness that struck him several weeks ago.

Negro Star Is Leader International Batters

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP) — Jackie Robinson, the first negro to play modern day organized baseball, today was proclaimed the official batting champion of the International League on his .349 average for the pennant-winning Montreal Royals.

HAMMERING triple-A pitching for a total of 205 hits, including 25 doubles, eight triples and three home runs, the former University of California at Los Angeles football star made good with a bang on his first trial with the Brooklyn farm club.

Whether Robinson will graduate to the parent Dodgers during their spring sessions at Havana has not been announced.

All of the other top International hitters have been advanced to the majors, including Newark's Alfie Clark and Rochester's Vernal Jones who tied for second at .344. Clark joins New York Yankees and Jones continues as a St. Louis Cardinal, having been moved up in late season.

EDDIE ROBINSON of the Baltimore Orioles, tabbed a sure bet to play first base for Cleveland in 1947, won the runs-batted-in title with 123 and also topped the circuit in total bases, 305.

Montreal's Robinson also was tied with Baltimore's Clarence Campbell for scoring the most runs, 113.

Just as Montreal dominated the pennant race by winning 100 games to finish 18½ games ahead of Syracuse, the Royals held a commanding lead in club batting with a team average of .288 as compared to Buffalo's second place .272.

Betting Illegal On Dogs. Jalopies

REGINA, Jan. 3 -(CP) — Sympathy for the "little bettor who feels that he has as much right to bet on dogs and jalopies as his richer brother has to bet on horses or play the stock market," was expressed today by attorney-general J. W. Corman of Saskatchewan.

MR. CORMAN said that holding of dog and jalopy automobile races was within the law but betting on them was illegal, under the criminal code of Canada and the Saskatchewan government could do nothing about it.

Enforcement of the law was up to the province and Saskatchewan would have no alternative but to enforce it.

The attorney-general said that if organizations or persons wished to have the law changed they should make representations to Ottawa either directly or through their local member of parliament.

English Cricketers Stage Nice Comeback

MELBOURNE, Jan. 3 (Reuters) — England made a strong afternoon stand at bat after a shaky performance this morning during the third day of the third test cricket match with Australia, running their score at the tea interval to 298 for seven wickets.

During the disastrous morning, the visitors—who lost the first two matches of the series—dropped four wickets for 32 runs in 65 minutes.

BUT A SIXTH wicket partnership of 113 by John Ikin and Norman Yardley improved England's prospects. Yardley scored 61 before he was bowled by Colin McCool just before the tea interval. Six runs later Ikin was caught by Miller on the bowling of Bruce Dooland. Ikin's total was 48.

The Australians, batting first, had scored 365. With two straight match victories, the Australians are in good position to take the best-of-five series for the mythical "ashes," emblem of cricket supremacy.

Building Clinic At Wainwright

WAINWRIGHT.— Work is under way on a modern medical clinic in Wainwright and barring shortages of building materials, will be ready for occupancy in the early summer.

Clinic is located on the corner of Main st. and Fourth ave. and set back off the street to allow for future landscaping of the grounds.

When completed the building will provide consulting rooms and office space for three doctors and also dentist's office. It will fill a long felt want for Wainwright and district.

The clinic will see the culmination of a plan of one of Wainwright's doctors, Dr. H. C. Wallace who, with his associates, Dr. J. D. Wallace and Dr. J. E. Bradley, has been responsible for the erection of the building.

At the present time the clinic staff is occupying office space in the Wainwright hotel.

Curling Resumed Wainwright Rink

WAINWRIGHT.— Curling season is in full swing in Wainwright and the rink once again is the gathering place for the enthusiasts every night. For the past four years the rink has been used by the army ordnance for storage purposes and the curlers have had to forego their usual winter sport.

This year there are 12 women's rinks and 14 men's rinks and the competition is keen.

Alterations have been started to the waiting room which, when completed will mean a larger space for spectators and also will provide additional kitchen room. It is planned to serve coffee during playing time.

Plans also are under way to enlarge the rink itself and it is hoped that by next year there will be one or two additional sheets of ice added.

Prominent Jasper Couple Honored on Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. EDWIN COTTAM

Married at De Bert, N.S., in 1896, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cottam, prominent Jasper residents, were honored recently at a gathering in the home of Press Berry. The occasion was their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Cottam, the former Margaret English and Mr. Cottam were born in the village of De Bert in 1878. Shortly after their marriage they moved to Cape Britain, N.S., and resided there until 1904 when they moved to North Dakota.

In 1907 they returned to Canada and lived in Winnipeg until 1911 when Mr. Cottam joined the mechanical department of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Edmonton. In 1914 he transferred to Jasper terminal shops where he worked until his retirement.

They are parents of four daughters and one son. Mrs. Press Berry, eldest of the daughters, lives at Jasper. Mrs. Ewart Johnston resides at Edmonton, Mrs. Phil Yeoman also of Edmonton, and Mrs. Charles Russell at Tacoma, Washington. Aldin Cottam, the son, was killed in the bombing of the Edder Dam in Germany, May 16, 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Cottam have always taken an active part in church matters and local community work.

Married at the age of 18 their married life appears to have sat lightly upon them. Both are in excellent health and the passing years have been kind to them.

Many suitable gifts for the occasion from friends and telegrams of congratulations came from many friends at a distance: The Cottam's will continue to make their home in Jasper.

We wish for them that they will be able to celebrate many more anniversaries of their marriage.

Mr. Garde was born in Cork, Ireland, and was a veteran of the Boer war. He also was police magistrate in South Africa and for some time held the same position in India.

He came to Pibroch from the west coast in 1922 and settled on a farm four miles east of the hamlet. He later moved to Pibroch where he became secretary of the municipality until a year ago when he was forced to retire due to ill health.

Also after moving to the hamlet he became postmaster and retained that position until his death. He was for many years police magistrate here.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Roddick, Westlock, and Mrs. Gordon McGillivray, Pibroch. There also are three grandchildren.

Funeral was held from the Westlock United church with Rev. Clarke officiating. Burial was in the Dungannon cemetery. Pallbearers were district old-timers and included M. Duseault, E. L. Short, Carl Antonson, Alvis Zaczkowcki, A. Munn and E. W. Stutchbury. Constable Allen of the R.C.M.P. and Magistrate McKeen formed a guard of honor.

Record Meeting Westlock Group

WESTLOCK.—A record of 65 parents and others interested in education attended the December meeting of the Westlock Home and School association. Meeting was in the form of an "at home" with the teaching staff as hosts.

Two amendments to the constitution were passed One was that the membership fee be increased to 50 cents and the other that a student of the Westlock school be asked to become a member of the home and school executive.

Used Two Teams To Move Sick Man

HANNA.—When Donald Barton of Big Stone was taken ill with appendicitis it was necessary to bring him 21 miles into Youngstown by team and sleigh.

The first team played out and a second finished the trip with the sick man and his father, in biting temperature of close to 35 degrees below zero. Footwarmers were used for extra warmth. Upon reaching Youngstown a car was procured which brought the sick man to Hanna.

An operation was immediately performed by Dr. S. E. C. Argue and last reports are that the 21-year-old patient's condition is good.

Legion Branch Protests Entry of Pole Veterans

WILDWOOD.—With a good attendance and lishings of Christ- tendance and lashings of Christ- election of officers and supper of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was an outstanding success despite the exceptionally cold weather.

Meeting opened in the Community hall, with one minute's silence in honor of fallen comrades and a verse of "O Canada."

Following the business meeting which was marked by the passing of a resolution protesting the admission of Polish soldiers, election of officers was held. Following were elected by acclamation: president, Peter Johnson, Jr.; first vice-president, Peter Johnson, Sr.; second vice-president, Fred Wheele.

Finances Good

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the retiring executive and J. C. Akers, secretary-treasurer. Finances were shown to be in a good condition.

In the discussion regarding the resolution protesting admission of Polish soldiers, veterans felt that Canadian and British Commonwealth veterans should first be looked after, while it was stated that some of these newcomers, although allegedly bound for farms, had already shown up in logging camps. Assertions also were made that some of them had served in the Reichswehr before being captured by the Eighth Army in Italy.

A ladies' committee consisting of Mrs. R. Browne, Mrs. P. Johnson Sr., and Mrs. Emma McDermid then served an elegant supper to all veterans, regardless of membership.

Ladies Thanked

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the ladies, which was followed by the singing of "for they are jolly good fellows" and three cheers and a tiger.

Proceedings were terminated by a dance given to the community at large free of charge, with the Legion acting as hosts, and President Johnson as master of ceremonies. Rod's Meloddeers supplied snappy music.

'Frisco Policeman, 'Tough Guy,' Quits

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—"Dasher Jack" Cannon, a tough guy to the underworld and a Beau Brummel to the women, turned in his inspector's star No. 666 to the San Francisco police department and made plans Friday to revisit some of the distant cities he glimpsed in the pursuit of crooks around the world.

Early in his 35 years of service Cannon built the reputation which resulted later in a stage play, "Officer 666," being built around his life by a San Francisco friend.

A crack shot with a reputation for coolness, he was a unanimous choice to cope with gunmen or to guard visiting celebrities.

The Duke of Manchester was credited with naming Cannon "Dasher Jack" because of his smart appearance. Regardless of assignment, Cannon always wore a white carnation in his lapel.

He once trailed a Chinese girl through numerous Oriental ports and eventually arrested her in Hong Kong for embezzling $25,000 from a San Franciscan.

On Shortages and Salaries

Teachers Ask Govt. Action

Temper of a large proportion of Alberta teachers was shown Friday when more than 200 loudly applauded the verbal explosion of C. S. Wilkie, of the faculty of education, University of Alberta, when he attempted to pin Hon. R. E. Ansley, minister of education, to a categorical answer of what the provincial government intends to do about the teacher situation at the next session of the Legislature.

THE UPSET followed the fairly lengthy address by the minister, who dealt with the government's difficulties in relieving the shortages as well as the reasons for financial inadequacy of teachers' salaries and pensions.

The 200 members present represented about half of the councillors expected for the emergency meeting called by the Alberta Teachers' Association. Councillors from all over the province were arriving all through the morning for the meeting in the Masonic Temple.

AFTER DESCRIBING the minister's speech as "one sided and lobsided," Mr. Wilkie shouted, "what is your government going to do about the teachers' situation in the next session, and if you can't answer this question in the next minute don't talk!"

The minister of education, unruffled, replied that he had dealt with that question in his address. 'I am satisfied that the government will do all it is financially able to do," he exclaimed.

"With qualified teachers?" was the interruption by one woman delegate when Mr. Ansley explained that at least under the present circumstances the schools could be "filled."

The minister said he regretted he did not know he was appearing there for the purpose of arguing the points, but was prepared to reply to questions.

"YOU ARE A GROUP of intellectuals and are more than ordinarily fitted to offer constructive help. I believe the government or any other group is looking for any lead you may have to offer," said the education minister.

Chairman H. C. Melsness, president of the ATA, called the meeting to order and explained that Mr. Ansley would be available to answer questions during the afternoon session.

During Mr. Ansley's address he said the provincial government was anything but unmindful of the inadequacy of salaries, pensions and working conditions but that under the "status quo" the alternative to expending greater sums on education would have to be at the expense of other services.

What taxpayers had to keep in mind was the fact that 80 per cent of the province's total expenditures were spread over five public services. These were: reduction of public debt charges, roads, public welfare, health and education.

"I'M SATISFIED that you can't get enough education by robbing the other services," said the minister.

What the government could do to improve the situation could not be appraised until the estimates were known, he said. These were in a large part dependent upon a satisfactory tax-transfer agreement between the province and the federal government, he declared, adding that with whatever may come from the agreement he felt it would not be sufficiently large to completely satisfy the just demands of the teachers.

"But is will be helpful," he said.

From Edmonton to Winnipeg

Plan Direct Air Service

Trans-Canada Air Lines should be operating daily services direct from Edmonton to Winnipeg by July 1 next at the latest and "possibly before that date," W. F. "Bill" English, vice-president for TCA, said in an interview here Friday.

W. F. "BILL" ENGLISH

"THE ONLY THING holding up start of the service is completion of airstrips at Saskatoon. TCA is all ready with equipment and personnel to inaugurate the new service," Mr. English said.

The company plans to complete the flights between Edmonton and Saskatoon in from four to four and one half hours. The air distance is about 700 miles.

There will be just one stop, at Saskatoon.

At the present time it takes from five to five and one half hours to fly over the existing route by way of Calgary, Lethbridge and Regina.

EDMONTON will eventually be on TCA's trans-continental service from coast-to-coast and only delivery of a fleet of Douglas DC-4Ms, now under construction for the company at Montreal, is delaying direct flights betwen Edmonton and Vancouver, the vice-president said.

"At present time we are in the process of a general change-over from the Lodestar to the Douglas DC-3, or larger 21-passenger planes,

Thieves Loot Car, Even Take Hat

A stalled car, no tow truck and some dishonest party caused H. A. Mack, 10013, 106 street a big headache Thursday. He told police that as he was driving along Kingsway his automobile stalled. Unable to get a tow truck around the immediate vicinity he walked back to find a phone and see what could be done about moving the vehicle.

One mistake he made was in leaving the doors of his auto open for when he returned it had been looted almost completely. Missing is an electric vacuum cleaner motor, electric drill, tool box and tools and even his hat.

Dr. Victor Scherer, MD, of Edson has been named coroner. Dr. Victor Wallace Wright of Edmonton has resigned as coroner. Dr. Wright is a former chairman of the Alberta Workman's Compensation board.

Rescue Work Has "Kick Back"

Fire on New Year's Eve Has Some "Repercussions"

Confusion worse confounded would be about the correct way to describe the predicament of a Jasper avenue businessman as a result of the New Year's Eve fire that swept a cafe and drug store premises on the main thoroughfare.

From reliable sources, here's the story.

The businessman who has an office about a block from where the fire struck, had been out celebrating the arrival of Anno Domini 1947 along with thousands of other citizens.

He saw the fire and decided his office was in danger. So in company with a male companion he dashed upstairs to "rescue" office furnishings and equipment.

The businessman grabbed the office adding machine and raced down the stairs. He slipped and fell, the adding machine taking a terrific beating as a result.

Back the pair went and this time grabbed files, documents and typewriters. This time they were more successful. They safely negotiated the stairs and placed the records and machine in a car at the curb.

Then they returned to the office for more "rescue work."

Finally they adjudged that the most "precious" had been taken to a place of safety and returned to "their car." But it wasn't there and after a little investigating they found the vehicle further down the street.

They had placed the typewriters and records in someone else's automobile.

Now they can't find the car or the owner and the office business is practically at a standstill. They haven't even got an adding machine to figure out the losses.

Holiday Railway Traffic Heavy

Passenger and freight traffic over the Christmas-New Year's holiday season, in and out of Edmonton paralled that of last year, with a probable higher percentage in each noted this year, it was announced by railway officials in Edmonton Friday.

F. H. KEEFE, general superintendent of the CNR for Alberta district reported that the CNR handled heavy traffic all through the season. "While some of the trains from the east were late, due to heavy falls of snow and cold weather in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the picture was generally very good, and most trains came in on time," he said.

Passenger traffic was about the same as last year, the holiday season always being one of their busiest times, but freight traffic was "considerably up" from last year, he stated.

J. R. STROTHER, CPR district superintendent, reported a "good holiday season" for his railroad, with business at least on a par, and possibly higher, than last year.

"There was very little delay, generally, on trains," he said.

"Generally, this winter has been kind to train schedules and few passengers have experienced delay in either out-going or incoming trains."

Devastation like that caused by atomic bomb blasts.

VISITING CITY: Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone, DSO, MC, who commanded The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in Italy and Northwest Europe, has arrived in the city on a visit from his home in Salmon Arm, B.C. He will be a guest of honor at the 32nd annual banquet and re-union of the 49th Battalion Association which is being held in the Macdonald hotel Saturday evening.

Ornest Injured When Hit by Fan

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3 -(AP)- The referees held the spotlight today in post-game talk among United States Hockey League fans.

During a game at Fort Worth last night between Fort Worth Rangers and Dallas Texas, referee Harry Ornest of Edmonton was hit by an irate spectator. A physician reported he suffered a concussion.

BEFORE ORNEST was struck he had been booed when he called a slashing penalty on the Fort Worth captain, Scotty McPherson.

Dallas, southern division leaders, won the game easily, 7-1.

At St. Paul, attention centred on Referee Hap Arnott who tore up a rule book in full view of the fans during a game between the Saints and Kansas City.

ARNOTT HAD disallowed a St. Paul goal late in the third period, ruling that the puck had deflected off goalie Doug Jackson's glove before entering the net. When the Saints' manager sent out a rule book, Arnott ripped it up.

St. Paul won the contest, 5-4. By losing the game the game Kansas City muffed a chance to move into first place in the northern division.

Higher Teaching Qualifications Urged by Farm Women's Assn.

Sounding a note of criticism over the decline in qualifications of teachers for Alberta's schools, a resolution from the Edgerton United Farm Women's Association pointedly asks that, whether it calls for higher pay or better conditions, the provincial government take steps to rectify the situation.

The resolution is one of more than 100 recently sent out for study through the UFA executive in Calgary, and will come up for discussion at their 38th annual convention to be held in that city Jan. 14 to 17 in the Palliser hotel.

This expression of reaction from the UFWA local is in addition to many similar resolutions from various organizations during the past year.

Moreover, its text is supported by the actions of the Alberta Teachers' Association which called an emergency meeting of councillors from all over the province to consider, as one official put it, "the alarming exodus of qualified teachers from the ranks of the profession."

This meeting was in session Friday at the Masonic Temple, and it is expected its findings will be submitted to the provincial department of education.

CLUBS TO MEET

Optimist and Cosmopolitan clubs will resume meetings next week after the Christmas-New Year's adjournment. The former club will meet in Thurcday, Jan. 9 and the Cosmopolitans will gather Jan. 7. Special programs have been arranged.

Teachers

In explaining what he thought were the reasons for reluctance on the part of taxpayers to accept necessary increases for improvement of education, Mr. Ansley said "it is a fear of the future, a fear of the economic instability which followed the First Great War and is being borne out following the recent war."

HE REFERRED pointedly to salaries in the civil service.

"Our own staff in the various departments of the provincial government are inadequately paid," he declared in drawing a parallel with the conditions for teachers.

"But it can't be said that the government is stepping up its civil service salaries at the expense of the teachers," Mr. Ansley pointed out.

"We know the province is physically able to rectify the situation," he said, adding that all that was required was the means to enable the province to transform this into financial possibility.

"THE STATUS QUO will not provide the financial means for education and other services," he declared.

Mayor Harry Ainlay, himself a former member of long standing in the teaching profession welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city, and in his address drew pointed parallels criticizing the factors which throughout Canada had contributed to a deterioration of the profession. Teachers, however were not blameless in the circumstances as they had developed. They should take an active interest in their community and make their personalities felt beyond the classroom. In this he was heartened in the active steps now being taken by the ATA and its affiliates. He characterized the present teachers' retirement pension of $35 a month at age 65 as "nothing more than indigent relief."

Other speakers who also addressed the morning sessions followed a similiar vein in deploring the present conditions as they affected the teaching profession. They were; L.Y. Cairns, KC, chairman of the educaton committee, Edmonton chamber of commerce; John W. Bernett, former secretary of the ATA, and now special advisor; and A. G. Andrews, secretary of the Alberta School Trustee's Association.

The afternoon meeting will deal with resolutions.

Air Service

but our goal is really the four-engined aircraft. These will go in service on TCA's trans-Atlantic run and then on the trans-continental service.

"THESE MACHINES will carry 40 persons in comfort and are equipped with Rolls-Royce motors," the official stated.

TCA does not plan to put the 21-passenger Douglas DC-3 in service over the Rocky Mountains.

"It has been found that the Lodestar gives a better two-engined performance in this area and when we change to larger aircraft over the mountains we will use the four-motored machines," he said.

TCA expanded services fully 50 per cent in 1946 and profits dropped considerably as a result, Mr. English said.

THE COMPANY spent over $1,000,000 on training of new personnel, practically all of whom are ex-service men and women.

Edmonton will presumably become of greater importance as a maintenance centre for TCA when the new service to Winnipeg . inaugurated and even more important later when trans-continental flights will be made with four engined aircraft direct from Edmonton to Vancouver, Mr. English said.

At present TCA employs 4,000 persons in all.

MR. ENGLISH expressed great satisfaction over TCA's fine record of safety. Not since 1941, when there was a crash at Armstrong, Ont., has a single passenger or crew member lost his or her life during operations.

No change is contemplated in the present arrangement between TCA and CP Air Lines, where the latter operates the route between Whitehorse and Fairbanks for TCA.

"We are interested in the northwest route only as it affects world routes to the Orient and that will depend on clarification of international relations," Mr. English said.

HE EXPRESSED satisfaction over the opening of the Northwest aerial route by Northwest Air Lines. "The more air service the more traffic," he said.

A veteran of the First Great War, when he served as a sergeant in the 49th Bn. CEF of Edmonton, Mr. English came from Winnipeg to attend the annual reunion banquet of the regiment being held in the Macdonald hotel on Saturday night. He has attended as many of these reunions as possible since the last war.

HE PLANS TO remain in Edmonton, looking over TCA facilities here until next Monday.

Mrs. English is with him on his present visit.

Resolutions Under Review

United Farmers of Alberta Preparing for Convention

United Farmers of Alberta, the province's senior agricultural organization, is well advanced in preparations for its 38th annual convention and has already sent out for study more than 100 resolutions which will come before the delegates Jan. 14 to 17 when they meet at the Palliser hotel in Calgary.

NOT LESS active will be the busy and progressive women's section of the organization, the UFWA, which in itself has prepared nearly half of the present number of resolutions.

The UFWA, headed by Mrs. Vera Lowe of Namao, president; Miss Molly Coupland, Lethbridge, and Mrs. J. K. Sutherland, Hanna, vice-presidents, holds its annual convention separately but simultaneously with the UFA.

George E. Church, Balzac, heads the large farm organization as president, supported by Eugene O'Neil of Claresholm as vice-president, with the executive consisting of R. Hennig, Fort Saskatchewan; M. H. Ward, Arrowwood, and A. B. Wood of Dewberry. There are 14 members on the UFA board of directors.

AN INTERESTING point in the first draft of resolutions is contained in the numbers submitted by central and northern locals of the United Farmers of Alberta.

Grande Prairie District Association tops the list with 10, while the enterprising North Peace River District Association with nine tes for second honors with Alberta's central Wetaskiwin UFA Federal Constituency Association.

In the women's section the honors are about evenly divided as to volume of resolutions submitted from all across the province.

Minister to Speak At Farm Meeting

Rt. Hon. James G. Gardner, federal minister of agriculture, will be the main speaker at the 38th annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta, scheduled for Jan. 14 to 17 in the Palliser hotel at Calgary, acording to information received Thursday from the UFA secretary, Miss Eileen Birch. He will speak Tuesday evening, Jan. 14.

SUJECT of Mr. Gardner's address has not been announced but it is more than likely he will touch or overseas meat and wheat contracts, farm machinery prices, income tax and freight rates, since these have been points under heavy fire from western farmers.

Returning from a trip to the west coast, it does not appear that Mr. Gardner will be in attendance for the Alberta Farmers' Union convention which will be held in Edmonton from Jan. 7 to 11, although he is scheduled to address a public meeting in the Masonic Temple Thursday evening, Jan. 16.

HE WILL SPEAK at Lethbridge Jan. 15, and from Edmonton on the following evening Mr. Gardner will return to Ottawa to prepare for opening of Parliament Jan. 30.

Speaking at the Wednesday evening session of the United Farmers of Alberta will be Ben S. Plumer, chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Presiding officers for the UFA convention will be George E. Church, president, and Eugene O'Neil, vice-president.

Manila-Bound Craft Reaches Anchorage

Orient-bound Northwest Airlines plane with Manila as its destination arrived safely at Anchorage, Alaska Thursday afternoon and was proceeding on to Sheyma in the Aleutians Friday, officials at the airlines offices, said here Friday.

The plane, carrying about 30 officials and technicians of Northwest Airlines, is making its first survey flight to the Orient, preparatory to openng up regular services for passengers and freight by way of Edmonton and Alaska to the Far East.

The plane should reach Tokyo on January 5, as a day is lost as a result of the east to west nature of the flight.

On Thursday, first of regular scheduled passenger flights between Minneapolis and Anchorage, arrived in Edmonton and left Friday morning for Anchorage.

Two Arrests Made As Homes Entered

Five private homes were entered during the early hours of Friday, and Kenneth McCracken and Lyle Greenwood both of Edmonton, were arrested and charged with housebreaking after being apprehended following a brief chase by Constables Martin Ursel and Philip Salzl of the city police.

THE ARRESTS WERE made after Steve Tohir, 9623 103A avenue, reported to the police about 4:50 a.m. that he was awakened by a man in his room striking matches. The two constables responded immediately and saw the two accused running east on 103 avenue toward 96 street.

At the time of arrest McCracken was out on bail awaiting trial in supreme court on a charge of shopbreaking, while Greenwood is on two years suspended sentence after being found guilty on a charge of uttering forged documents.

At about 3 a.m. H. A. Love, 11712 88 street, phoned police and stated that he awoke and saw a young man standing in his room. The prowler immediately ran out and was joined on the street by another man, Mr. Love stated.

JOHN BENDER, 9608 103A avenue, told police he was awakened in the same manner, and on being disturbed the prowler ran from the premises and joined a cohort on the street. This was at about 4:30 a.m.

Victor Dunn, 9631 103 avenue, said his room was entered beween 3 and 5 a.m and that his wallet containing $5 in cash was stolen. Other persons in the house said they heard prowlers during morning hours.

DR. C. MEGAS, 11734 95 street, told police that an attempt had been made to enter his office at the above address. He stated that it looked very much like someone had tried to open the Yale lock as there were a number of pieces of celluloid around the doorway.

Service Girls Home-Minded

Pots, pans and home fixtures appear to shine highest in the post war lives of Edmonton's ex-service girls.

ACCORDING to the monthly report released by the department of veterans' affairs, 52 ex-service women in the Edmonton district took advantage of their re-establishment credits during December, to purchase furniture. In all, they spent a total of $5,128.48 on these home-making commodities.

Further evidence that a large number of the girls traded in their uniforms for frilly aprons is seen in the fact that during the year, 28 made use of their government credits to pay first installments on a home. In all, DVA paid out more than $6,500 to help pay for homes purchased by ex-service women.

THE NUMBER of those who have decided to become white collar girls appears to be considerably fewer with only 22 during the year, drawing on their credits for the purchase of equipment with which to operate their own businesses.

Full-Blooded Mohawk Indian Maid Opens Crafts Shop

HANOVER, New Hampshire, Jan. 3—A garage may not have any similarity to a tepee—but to a full-blooded Mohawk Indian maid—it spells home-sweet-home.

Attractive Waru Kawennain (Wah-ree Kah-wehn-ee'-ehn) — whose name means Princess Echo—has opened an Indian crafts shop in a garage in Hanover, New Hampshire. The small business venture of the Indian girl is in keeping with her efforts to help with the family budget while her GI husband completes his education at Dartmouth.

The comely brunette and her Indian husband rented the garage from the college as the GI subsistence pay proved inadequate for their daily needs. Already the idea has profited the young couple, both of whom are members of the Wolf Clan of the Mohawk Tribe.

Princess Echo is known to her pale-face friends as Evelyn. She was born and reared on the Kahnawake reservation on the Saint Lawrence River in Canada. [illegible] of the reservation [illegible] of the land.

HER HUSBAND—known to professors as William Cook—spent his life on a reservation in upper New York.

The couple—like many others—did not like wartime separation. As a result they were married at Cherry Point, North Carolina, while Cook was completing flight training with the US Army Air Force.

From there, he went to the Pacific, and his wife returned to the reservation to wait for him.

Their decision to make Dartmouth their college home is in keeping with the college trademark and nickname—the Indians. With them they brought a third Indian—Ruby Orraine—the only other full-blooded Indian studying at Dartmouth. He is a cousin of Cook.

DARTMOUTH athletes — long known as Indians—now can buy their gifts and sports equipment from a full-fledged tepee.

Princess Echo and her student husband have on display [illegible] Indian handiwork brought directly from the Mowhawk, Chippewa, Huron and Abenaki Indian reservations in Northern New York and Canada.

The handiwork includes moccasins, Adirondack packbaskets, trinkets of leather and birch, beads, native costume, snowshoes, Iroquois lacrosse sticks, bonnets and other items.

The stock of lacrosse sticks and other sports equipment was inspired by Cook who plays attack on the Dartmouth lacrosse team.

As a result, his teammates will meet future opponents with tested Indian [illegible].

WHILE MANY of the items come from the reservation, Princess Echo makes up any hard-to-get goods. The Princess spends her spare time—what little she has—making various trinkets, weaving baskets and proving herself a competent business woman and wife.

Husband Bill helps out whenever his busy college course permits.

Already the busy shop is the stamping grounds for adults and children alike who beg the friendly couple to don native costumes and strut their stuff.

Dartmouth can look forward to a real Indian atmosphere for at least two more years for Cook is in his sophomore year at the college. And when Dartmouth sport teams are referred to as the Indians—inhabitants of little Hanover will point out that the name now has full meaning . . . for Dartmouth has its tepee—thanks to Princess Echo and her GI husband.

Urge Understanding For Wayward Girls

LONDON, -(CP)- A plea for more understanding in dealing with unstable adolescent girls— "superficially good time girls"— was made by a joint committee of the British Medical Association and the Magistrates' Association which issued a report on psychiatry and the law.

"It is wrong to treat as guilty of an offence, a girl who needs and cannot find care and protection." the committee said, adding that unsuitable detention homes were likely to exacerbate rather than improve their tendency toward misconduct.

The committee urged a fuller understanding of the general causes and treatment of misbehaviour since "often all that such a girl needs is some activity that will bring variety, color and interest into her drab life."

It recommended larger and better trained investigation staffs to deal with the problem, and greater provision of homes, hostels and suitable lodgings.

Cottage Industries Will Be Developed

The five cottage industries considered essential for village self sufficiency are the textile, pottery, tanning, metal work and vegetble oil industries and these are to be stimulated by various measures.

They came to America on the Queen Mary arriving in New York on Christmas Day, flew to Montreal and came from there by train.

Nuernberg Trials Said 'Top News'

TORONTO, (CP)—Trial of the Nazi war criminals at Nuernberg, a chronicle of evil which remained on newspaper pages for 11 months, was selected by Canadian telegraph editors as the outstanding world news story of 1946.

Voting in a Canadian Press poll in which each was asked to name the six best world stories and the six best Canadian, they chose the disclosure of a Russian espionage ring and the subsequent spy trials as the best Canadian story of the year. A close-second choice was the 81-day steel strike which affected 10,000 workers at plants in Sydney, N.S., and Hamilton and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Army Unification Britain, U.S. Seen

LONDON, (AP)—Military officials have disclosed Britain and the United States are at work on arms standardization and joint officer training, and the Paris newspaper Aurore forecast the eventual unification of the two armies under a secret accord it said would be signed March 15.

Aurore, a Socialist newspaper, said the first proving ground for the unification of the two armies would be set up in Canada.

The air ministry announced the R.A.F. and the United States army air forces were planning to start joint training with the exchange of 30 to 40 officers each, to be expanded toward an upward limit of 100 each.

Aurore had reported the predicted March 15 agreement would call for joint defence in event either Britain or the U.S. was attacked. It added equipment of the two armies would be made uniform and British officer training would be patterned after West Point training. The goal, the paper said, is a single fighting arm, with posts from the North Pole to the Rio Grande and from Asia Minor to Japan.

An unnamed British official said experts discussing arms standardization were starting at the bottom and working up. He reported no decision yet to standardize all British and U.S. military equipment, but he did not rule out this possibility.

Britain, he added, "is not averse to standardizing military equipment with the Russians." He said Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, British chief of staff, would bring back any Russian proposals on the subject from Moscow this month.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Responsible officials Friday ruled out for the predictable future any full-scale merger of British and American armed forces, but indicated the United States is seeking an extensive standardization of arms in some foreign countries, based on United States armament.

The question of arms standardization, as explained here, is based on the broad political principle that countries which might some day have to fight together should prepare in advance to do so.

But officials threw cold water on reports by the Paris Socialist newspaper Aurore that British and United States armies soon will be forged into a single fighting arm, extending from the North Pole to the Rio Grande and from Asia Minor to Japan.

Canada Is Regarded As 'Pivotal Scene'

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA.—There was no official comment from the government Thursday on a Paris newspaper report that Canada would be the "pivotal scene" in widespread arms standardization by the United States and Britain.

But, unofficially, there was no surprise among informed persons who interpreted the Paris report in the light of fairly obvious facts.

"Pivotal scene" is not interpreted as meaning that great research and testing bases will be set up in Canada.

Canada Has Been Link

What it may well mean is that Canada [illegible] position of being the broad link between Britain and the United States would carry out that same function.

If Britain and the U.S. proceed with standardization of certain arms nothing would be more natural than that much of the work would be done in Canada. Canada's forces are equipped and trained almost entirely on the British system, so the equipment of the two principals is readily available on this continent, and the work of comparing and testing and compromising would be much simpler and quicker here than if the equipment and information had to flow tediously back and forth across the Atlantic.

No extensive setting up of new bases would be necessary. Work could easily be carried on at existing army bases in scores of places in Canada and the United States.

North Offers Opportunity

Canada offers a first-rate opportunity for standardization research in the far north.

And there is no reason why the combined United States and [illegible] base at Churchill in operation could not carry out a lot of this work.

It is to be remembered that standardization of arms and equipment is a colossal task which will take years to complete. First there is the job of establishing standards acceptable to both countries, and then there is the further huge job of producing that standardized equipment and scrapping the old-style equipment.

Later he accepted doctor's advice and took the sedatives.

Canada's Mining Production Hits Record Peacetime High

OTTAWA, (CP)—Canadian mining production hit an all-time peacetime high in 1946, according to preliminary estimates released Wednesday night by the trade department.

Preliminary figures indicate an increase of two percent in value to $503,900,000 compared with $498,700,000 in 1945. Although hampered by a shortage of skilled labor, by strikes, and by a lack of essential equipment, the mining industry continued at a high level of operations, the output in 1946 being only 10 percent below the record of $566,700,000 in 1942.

Output of fuels, structural materials and other non-metallics were at record levels, but the gains in these groups were more than offset by declines in base metals.

The value of the metals in 1946 at $304,700,000 was the lowest since 1936 despite the higher export prices for base metals. Tonnage of copper was down 22 percent to 185,543; zinc dropped nine percent to 235,917; and nickel declined 22 percent to 95,406. Lead increased slightly to 177,222. Gold production was up 19 percent in quantity and 14 percent in value to 3,214,377 fine ounces at $118,100,000, and silver at 12,778,218 ounces worth $10,700,000 was down slightly in quantity but up 75 percent in value.

Output of structural materials was greater than in any other year, the 1946 value of $61,400,000 being 27 percent above the $448,400,000 in 1945. Increases by items were as follows: cement 13 percent in quantity and 37 percent in value to 11,415,167 barrels at $19,500,000; clay products 37 percent to $12,200,000; stone 11 percent to $9,000,000; sand and gravel 34 percent to $14,100,000. Lime production at 824,609 tons valued at $6,500,000 was slightly below the 1945 output.

Coal production totalled 17,692,052 tons at $74,400,000, representing gains of seven percent in tonnage and 10 percent in value over the 1945 figure. Output of natural gas at 46,900,000,000 cubic feet at $11,300,000 was down three percent in quantity and eight percent in value. Crude petroleum declined nine percent in quantity to 7,668,000 barrels, but the value at $14,900,000 was 10 percent higher than in 1945.

Declaring that high taxes have caused it to lose money for two years, the gold mining company at Portovelo, Uruguay, has reported to the Ecuadoran government that unless it can pay only 50 percent of its profits as taxes it will have to shut down.

Crosby 1st Choice Of Canadian Fans

By Canadian Press

Canadian motion picture exhibitors agree with their neighbors south of the border on nine of 11 choices for the top 10 money makers of 1946, although placing only the top three in the same places as the United States exhibitors.

Bing Crosby has been chosen for the third successive year by both Canadian and United States exhibitors for the top spot.

The Canadian choices for the first 10 were in this order (United States choices in brackets):

Bing Crosby (same); Ingrid Bergman (same); Van Johnson (same); Bob Hope (Gary Cooper); Greer Garson (Bob Hope); Margaret O'Brien (Humphrey Bogart); Betty Grable (Greer Garson); Humphrey Bogart (Margaret O'Brien); Alan Ladd (Betty Grable); Gary Cooper (Roy Rogers).

Alan Ladd ninth in the Canadian list, is 14th in the American. Roy Rogers, 10th in the American list, doesn't make the Canadian first 10.

The Canadian preference in western stars is almost that of the United States exhibitors. Roy Rogers placed first in the voting on both sides of the border. The Canadians placed Gene Autry second while the American choice was Bill Elliott. Canadians placed Elliott third.

Other Canadian choices in order were George (Gabby) Hayes, Smiley Burnett and Charles Starrett (tied), Johnny (Mack) Brown, Sunset Carson, Don (Red) Barry, Bob Steele and Jim Wakely (tied), and Andy Clyde.

Teen-Age Nuptials Head for Divorce

A group of teen-agers ask when is the best age for a girl to marry. Well, the most authoritative information we have on the subject is furnished by the statistics of the Marriage License Bureau, which show that the younger the bride is, the more likely she is to have her marriage go blooey, and that far more boy-and-girl marriages end in divorce than do those of their elders.

This is perfectly logical and inevitable because teen-agers' emotions haven't had time to jell, and what they think is love is often a false alarm. Nor do they know what sort of a husband they are going to want when they grow up any more than they know what they are going to wear next season.

ANOTHER reason, and a vital one, why girls should not marry when they are young and immature is because they have not had their playtime of life. They haven't had any freedom or any fun, and it is a law of Nature that if girls don't have their pleasure when they are young, they are mighty apt to take it when they are old, and get themselves into scandals.

Anyway, under heaven there is no more pitiful sight than a little child-wife struggling with pots and pans and diapers and babies, when her feet are aching to dance and she is mad for the good times that the other girls of her age are having. Of course, miracles do happen. Occasionally there is a 16-year-old marriage that turns out happily, but when it does it is pure accident, and the teen-ager can no more count on it than she can on breaking the bank at Monte Carlo.

For marriage is not kindergarten stuff. It is not a children's game. It's serious business even for adults to undertake because so many different factors go into making any marriage a success. Especially is this the case for women whose happiness depends on their getting their hearts' desire in their husbands.

HENCE, BEFORE a girl marries, she should be old enough to know her own mind and to have her habits and her tastes formed so that she will know what she is shopping for when she picks out her mate. Likewise, she should be old enough to want to settle down. She should have had her fill of parties and dates and near-romances and idle flirtations, and to be ready to put all of her energies and interests and enthusiasm into being a good wife and mother.

The neurotic, dissatisfied, peevish, fretful married women, who are bored by their husbands and burdened by their children; who let their own homes go sloppy while they run shoppes or have careers, and who pick up men in bars, are nearly always the women who married too young, and who are trying to make up at middle age for the thrills that they missed in their teens.

How old, then, should a girl be when she marries? In the early twenties, I think. Then she is still young enough to be adaptable and able to adjust herself to her husband's whims, yet old enough to have developed a backbone that will keep her from becoming a doormat wife. She will have seen enough of men to be on to their tricks and their manners, and she will have acquired a technique in handling them that will enable her to get along with her husband without friction.

It is because the older girl has so much better chance of happiness in marriage than bobby-soxers that I urge the little dears not to rush into marriage before they are ready for it.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

On the plane flight from New Orleans to Dallas there were seven of us who had just attended the New Orleans tournament, among them Col. H. A. Cole of Dallas. At dinner in Dallas that evening the Colonel brought up today's hand.

Looking at all four hands, you might say that declarer has no problem to make five-odd, but if South ambitiously arrives at a five spade contract, what is the correct play after winning the opening heart lead with the ace in dummy? Should he lead the seven of spades and let it ride if East plays the four? Or should he play the jack of spades from his own hand?

As the cards lay, you can see that he should let the seven-spot ride, and he will lose only two spade tricks; but is it the correct percentage pay?

Colonel Cole said that it was. "If the spades break two-two," he said, "it does not make any difference how you play them—you will lose only two tricks. If the singleton ten is in the West hand, allowing the seven to ride will lose to the ten, and the ace and king will be lost. But against one chance of losing to the ten, you have two chances to win if the singleton is the ace or king. Therefore, mathematically speaking, the finesse is the correct play."

Regarding South's opening bid of two spades, I do not believe that many experts would open this hand with a two-bid unless they were playing the ace-showing response which requires partner to bid four no trump if he holds two aces, and to show one ace as North did on this hand.

Why Grow Old?

In these days of high food prices, remember to use plenty of milk, cabbage and other foods in which you get the most value for your money. It will give you a smile of health like Actress Joan Winfield's — even on a low budget.

By Josephine Lowman

In the hands of the woman of the home lie the vitality and health and success of her family, for she is the one who plans the menus.

AS TIME GOES on and work in nutrition progresses, more and more small physical discomforts and minor dissabilities, more defects in beauty and more of the serious deseases are laid at the door of deficient nutrition. You may get plenty of calories but not enough of the protective foods.

Today the question of getting vitamins on your budget is indeed a serious one because the cost of food is so much higher than it used to be. The smaller the income or the less the food budget will buy, the more important a knowledge of nutrition becomes. Realizing that everyone is feeling the pinch of high taxes and high prices I am giving today a few suggestions about low-cost, valuable foods.

IF YOU MUST CUT your grocery bill, or hold it where it is, remember that baked potatoes whole grain cereals and milk should form the back bone of your diet. They not only carry much of the calorie load but also provide a backlog in health values. Many persons think of milk as a luxury food, but it isn't It gives you so many different elements that you cannot, especially on a restricted budget, afford to be without it. Every adult should have a pint a day and each child should have a quart.

The more fresh fruits and vegetables you can afford, the better. However, great variety is always expensive. Yellow and green leafy vegetables are extremely healthful but don't forget the winter vegetables which are usually relatively cheap. Use cabbage, carrots, turnips, and beets generously.

THE CHEAPER CUTS of meat are not so tender but are just as healthful as the more expensive ones. They must be cooked longer but if you buy from a well-known packing house they are perfectly safe. Ground beef and oatmeal meat loaves are good and are also nutritious.

On the low-cost diet let cereals milk, whole wheat, baked potatoes, act as the skeleton of your menus. To this add a minimum of two or three eggs a week for an adult and four or five for each child, five or six servings of yellow or green vegetables a week and as many more vegetables and fruits as you can afford, meat at least three or four times a week. and some citrus fruit or tomatoes daily. Canned orange juice is usually cheaper for a family than fresh oranges and is just as valuable as a health food.

IF YOU WISH TO have my leaflet which outlines adequate diets for high cost, medium cost, and minimum cost, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Vitamin in Your Diet," leaflet No. 38 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Any parent is bound to be disturbed when she finds an unsightly birthmark on her newborn baby. The most comforting presumption, these days, is that it need not be a permanent disfiguration.

In the old days mothers had a ready explanation for these marks. They could usually think back over the nine months and remember some incident which had been nervously upsetting them. Then, whether consciously or otherwise, they felt sure they had "touched" themselves on the skin, and these marks were the result.

The only reason why such absurd ideas persisted for so long is that childbirth has long been a mystery even to the persons engaged in it. The average mother goes through the nine months period of gestation in partial or complete ignorance of the processes of fetal development. Her ignorance made it possible for her to enunciate and pass on such absurdities a "marking" the baby.

A greater knowledge of how babies are conceived and develop makes it clear that since there are no nerves connecting mother and child there is no pathway by which the mother's nervous or emotional impulses can be transmitted to the baby. Happily, for the baby, he or she receives only nutrition from the mother and is completely unaffected by her thoughts or frights

But, during the period when two cells unite and then divide and multiply to make millions of new cells, some little thing might "go wrong" and leave its mark on the new cell.

This happens in the flower and the animal world, too, and certainly no one explains it on the basis of their emotions! When these marks seem to resemble anything it is pure coincidence. All mothers should be glad they have no such responsibility to prevent all devastating emotions or frights during such a long period, or make the baby pay for their lack of control.

When there is a mark that would in any way embarrass the child, it is wise to consult a surgeon or plastic surgeon about its removal. There is no need for children to carry through life any marks which would be a bar to their comfort and

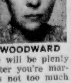
ROMANCE FADES

AUCKLAND, N.Z. -(CP)- More than half of the 1,400 girls in Auckland Province who at one time declared their intention of travelling to the United States to marry American servicemen have changed their minds. Only about 420 have so far left for the United States or made arrangements for early departure.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

Dear Miss Woodward: "I'm engaged to a swell fellow and we're going to be married soon. But his hobby—he's a radio ham—is coming between us. We never go anywhere together. I usually spend the evenings visiting with his mother while he fiddles with his radio. This is getting to be too much of a good thing!"



WOODWARD

It's quite alright for your fiance to have an interesting hobby—but there is no reason why you should be inflicted with it at this point. There will be plenty of time for that after you're married. Right now it's not too much to ask that he devote several evenings to you—and you only. Pry him away from that radio of his on regular evenings each week. Make those evenings yours. Plan to see some friends who don't know a word about radio. Plan to do things that don't make you sit still and listen.

You've spent so many evenings at his house that he undoubtedly thinks you like the arrangement. Don't see him every night in the week. Schedule your dates so you do things together, you stay at home and do things you like to do. and he has evenings at home when he's alone with his precious radio.

Since he loves you he'll want to do things that will make you happy. He'll want to give you pleasure. And you hold out for it. Too much of anything makes a lop-sided life. It's going to be up to you from now on in—to inject a little variety into his life.

Dear Miss Woodward. "I've known and liked a boy for years and years—and he likes me too. Only we don't seem to like each other at the same time. He goes out of his way to be nice to me— while I'm interested in some other fellow. And when I work up steam over him, he's always going with another girl. We can't seem to manage to make it come out even. I'm a roller skating champion, so I spend a lot of time skating—and he always gets jealous when I skate with boys who are really good. Of course, I talk about skating a lot too—and he gets peeved at that. And I get peeved when all the girls flirt with him. How can I straighten this all out?"

Perhaps you could fix things up with your boy friend if you concentrated a little harder on him. He doesn't like playing second fiddle to your skates. He doesn't like the attention you give to boys who can keep up with you. He doesn't like it that anything else—even your sport—could come before him in your affections. All of this pushes his nose out of joint and keeps it out of joint.

Why not sacrifice part of your precious skating time to skating with him? Give him a few pointers so he can enjoy your sport with you. He would then realize that you enjoy other boys because of their skating ability—not because of their fatal charms.

And when you're not skating—forget about it. Concentrate hard on the things that interest him. Let him see that there are other things in your life besides skating. And that he tops that list!

THE Rothchilds
WERE NOT THE GREATEST BANKERS

When we think of great banking families, we think of the Rothchilds, because movies have immortalized them. But they were small fry compared with the family of Hambros, who were financing international projects before the discovery of America. They were the original financiers of the Vikings. They lent money to the American government in 1776, and have financed such men as Napoleon, the kings of Scandinavia, and King Victor Emmanuel. In 1940, this family supplied the president of the Norwegian parliament, governor of the bank of Scandinavia, a director of the stock exchange, and the governor of the bank of England. Descendants from Orkney Island fishermen, they have been financial giants for 1,200 years.

There are 12,000,000 acres of forest land in Arizona, with much of it abounding in game and good fishing streams.

Points for Parents

Not This
This
1946. The Register and Tribune Syndicate

Father: "I know I'm right. If you'd just listen to what I'm trying to tell you."

Mother: "And I know I'm right and all you can say will never change me in the least!"

Mother: "There's no necessity of our agreeing about inconsequential things, but if we study together we should be able to agree about the basic principles of child guidance."

For the sake of children's happiness, as well as their own, parents should decide upon what subjects they can agreeably disagree and which ones require agreement or compromise.

Part of Emergency Powers To Become Permanent Law

By John Bird

OTTAWA.—The dominion government's emergency powers are due for drastic scaling down, at least, but no such dramatic action as that of President Truman's dopping of the American war powers may be looked for.

The dominion government already has dropped the War Measures' act, substituting for it the Transitional Emergency Powers' act under which its powers were somewhat scaled down, as compared with its full wartime powers. This Transitional Powers' act is on the way out, expiring March 31 at the latest.

First business of parliament after it meets Jan. 30, will be to consider bills to replace the expiring emergency powers. It is even thought likely the debate in reply to the speech from the throne will be quickly adjourned, so the government's bills may be dealt with before March 31.

Some To Be Permanent

Many of the government's powers taken under orders-in-council are susceptible of being written into permanent legislation. For example, a labor code applying only to those industries which come under dominion jursdiction (such as shipping and railways) may be offered as permaanent legislation for concurrent action by such provinces as wish to accept it and apply it to their own industries.

Other emergency powers which the government feels to be still necessary are not so appropriate for embodying in permanent law —rent control, for example. It is likely the dominion will ask for a continuation of its emergency powers for a time, in greatly restricted fields. Thus both methods may be applied; translating some wartime powers into permanent law while asking for the extension of transitional powers in other instances.

Legally Still At War

One phrase in President Truman's announcement attracted wide attention here, namely that which declared hostilities to have ceased as of noon, Tuesday. This does not mean the United States is no longer "at war," but is legal phraseology enabling the president to drop wartime powers.

In Canada the dominion is still technically at war and presumably will remain so internationally until peace treaties are signed. But for certain domestic purposes, Canada is no longer at war. For example, the wartime tax agreements between the dominion and the maritime provinces have expired, while those with other provinces expire April 30. Substitution of the Transitional Emergency Powers' act for the War Measures' act marked the beginning of the return to a peacetime footing domestically in Canada.

Early in the next session, the government's projected bills will be designed to place this country permanently on a peacetime basis, new style, but with the government's powers considerably enlarged from pre-war days, especially in matters like foreign exchange control.

Ask Restrictions Upon 'Foreigners'

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The house of representatives committee on un-American activities recommended Thursday that congress pass legislation permitting only American citizens to "hold office in any labor union subject to federal laws."

In addition, the report recommended that:

Employment in the federal government be restricted by law to citizens of the United States.

Second class mailing privileges be denied all newspapers and periodicals printed in a foreign language which do not carry full English translation in parallel columns.

Congress create an independent commission to investigate and order the firing of any government worker or official whose loyalty to the United States "is found to be in doubt."

Tax exemption privileges be denied "Communist front" organizations posing as educational, charitable and relief groups.

Additional recommendations included:

That all alien Communists and other subversive aliens be deported promptly and that the immigration service set up a "stringent screening" of aliens coming in.

That the state and justice departments be required to publish every six months the names and identities of all agents of foreign governments in the United States.

Australia has a shortage of dentists, and the army is being urged to release them.

Lois Mae Graybill, 19, of Wenatchee, Wash., who was unhurt in a mid-air plane crash, but fell and skinned her knee while walking away from the wreckage. She was one of the passengers who narrowly escaped death when two Miami-bound planes collided near Aberdeen, Md. As she entered the Aberdeen proving grounds mess hall after the crash she fell.

Burma Campaigns For Full Freedom

CALCUTTA, (Reuters) — U Aung San, leader of the Burmese delegation to the London talks on Burma's future, said Thursday Burma would demand a national government with full freedom.

"We want immediately to convert the governor of Burma's executive council into a fully-pledged interim government with full freedom and we also want to turn the general elections, due to take place in April, into elections for a constituent assembly," he said.

Pass Up Chances Join World Bank

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Russia, Australia, New Zealand and Liberia have passed up the chance to become "charter members" of the world bank and the world monetary fund, officials of those organizations said Thursday.

All four let the New Year deadline pass without signing the articles of agreement. Any of the four can still apply for membership at any time.

Unions, Companies Said Law Violators

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The special house of representatives campaign investigating committee Thursday turned over to the justice department evidence it said indicated that 60 C.I.O. unions and locals and 12 corporations violated the Corrupt Practices act in the recent congressional elections.

The committee also gave to the attorney-general evidence which Chairman Percy Priest (Dem.-Tenn.) said shows that the Communist party of the United States violated the law by failing to file a report of receipts and expenditures as required of political parties.

Priest said the unions and corporations were cited to the department for violating the law prohibiting any corporation or labor organization from making a contribution in connection with an election. The unions, he said, contributed approximately $50,000 to the Greater New York political action co-ordinating committee and the New York county American Labor party campaign committee.

Mildly Challenge A-Bomb's Effects

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The house of representatives naval committee Thursday formally declared against any sacrifice of security for economy, and mildly challenged the effectiveness of the atom bomb as a weapon against fleets.

The committee, wrapping up the findings of several sub-committees in the expiring congress, asserted that desire for "minimum expense" must be tempered "by the realization that the most expensive thing in the world is a cheap army and navy."

In laying its case against a repetition of the "scrapping policies of the 20s," the full committee stamped its approval on a sub-committee's report which offered these general recommendations for an American policy on Pacific bases:

1. The U. S. should have dominating control over the former Japanese mandated islands of the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas.

2. The U. S. should be given specific rights to the sites where American bases were constructed on island territories of the Allied nations.

3. With respect to Guadalcanal and the sites of other American bases on islands mandated or claimed by other nations "full title should be given to the United States because . . .they are links in our chain of security."

The committee concluded that the "atomic bomb is not most effective against fleets, but rather that it is most potent against large land installations and concentration of troops. The potential destruction of naval operating and supply bases would appear to be a greater problem than to fleets themselves."

However, it termed the atom bomb "the most deadly weapon that man has ever employed."

B.F.'s DAUGHTER

by John P. Marquand

is the story of Polly Fulton who had everything — beauty, brains and money. But the strength that she inherited from her father was in conflict with her other inheritance, the inheritance of her times. Strength wasn't enough in a world where nothing mattered that had happened before the War. Polly had to learn the hard way.
